Pattullo Backs Price, Wage Policy

Premier Pattullo said today the provincial government will give Ottawa all the co-operation it desires in carrying out its price-fixing and wage-pegging policy.

"I am in favor of taking necessary measures to prevent undue inflation," the Premier said.

Adam Bell, deputy minister of labor, has just returned from the Dominion-provincial labor officials' conference at Ottawa, where the details were worked out.

3rd Blast at War Plant

Dunham and Oddo said they were operating grinders in a big bin at the plant when magnesium ignited in a blinding heat flash.

One man was killed and eight others injured in an explosion Saturday. Three men lost their lives several weeks ago when magnesium flared up in a sudden fury of flame.

The company said Saturday's explosion originated in a gas main, and was not attributed to production.

Nazis' Pace Slows in Moscow Drive, Their Losses Approach 4,000,000

Associated Press

Moscow, under a state of siege proclaimed by Stalin, braced today for the impact of German forces only 57 miles away at one point.

The German high command claimed new wedges had been driven into the Moscow defences, with two more Red army groups wiped out.

London sources said pace of the Germans' grand offensive appeared to be abating, compared with the first stages of the drive, started October 3, but they found "no evidence that the weight of the assault is slowing up."

With snow covering the Russian plains on the central front, weather conditions had become generally "unfavorable for active operations."

The official Communist newspaper Pravda today declared the German losses on the eastern front now are approaching 4,000,000 killed and wounded, but "still these accursed locusts come on," according to a Moscow radio broadcast heard in London.

445 Nazi Trucks With Men Destroyed

The price the Germans are paying for their gains was indicated by the Soviet information bureau, which said that in the Bryansk and Kalinin sectors Saturday alone Russian forces destroyed about 445 German trucks loaded with men, fuel and munitions, 25 tanks and 70 cars.

Emphasizing seriousness of the situation confronting the Soviet capital was a decree by Stalin proclaiming a state of siege in the city. The proclamation appealed to the Moscow population to lend all possible aid to the defending Red army, ordered summary execution of provocateurs and spies, and placed all traffic under strict supervision. (See story on page 3).

The Russians reported that gigantic battles were raging on the two main approaches to the city—in the region of Mozhaisk and Maloyaroslavets, which are 57 miles airline west and 65 miles south of the city.

On the southern front the Germans said the Russians were retreating before a renewed German offensive which the Nazi high command said had resulted in capture of Taganrog on the north shore of the Sea of Azov, after savage house-to-house fighting.

Good Election Weather

'Use Your Vote' Last Minute Cry

Victoria will vote Tuesday with 40 other ridings in British Columbia to choose the province's 20th Legislature.

As the weatherman held forth prospects of good weather in most ridings, political leaders, their arguments expended, concentrated on the slogan "Use your vote."

At all the wind-up meetings speakers stressed the fact that the balloting franchise is the very essence of the democracy over which the world is struggling today, regardless of which phase of government it may affect.

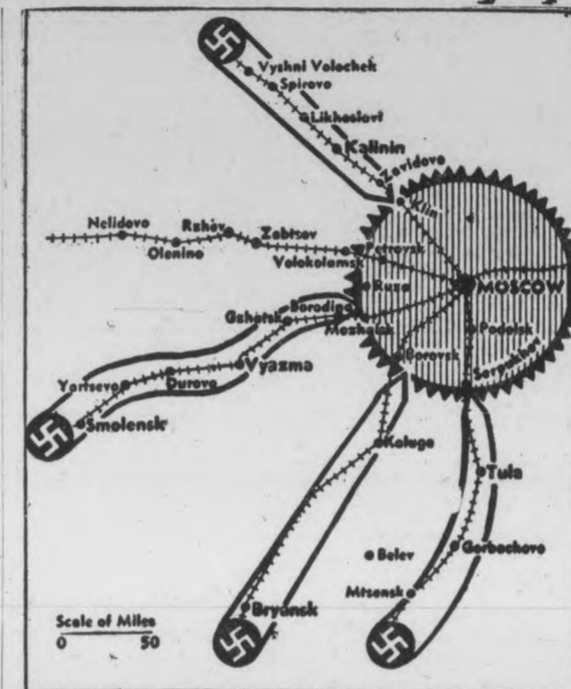

In British Columbia there are 417,839 people registered to mark ballots. They will choose from 156 candidates the 48 men and women who will conduct affairs of the province for the next four years, possibly five.

The voters have three parties to choose from for their next government: Liberals, who have been in charge since 1933; Conservatives, who formed the official opposition in the last Legislature; and C.C.F., making their biggest bid to date for power.

Voting begins at 8 in the morning and continues 12 hours until 8 in the evening.

Government liquor stores will be closed all day, W. F. Kennedy, Liquor Board chairman, announced. Beer parlors and veterans' clubs must remain closed by the election law until voting ends.

Germans Try To Reach Rostov

This reported success would place the Nazis 30 miles from the Don River port of Rostov, logical springboard for an attempt to drive into the rich Caucasian oil fields. It would represent an advance of 65 miles from Mariupol, fall of which was claimed by the Germans October 7. Capture of the city would cut the important railway between Rostov to Kharkov in the heart of the Donets basin.

"In the southern part of the eastern front," the high command communique said, "German, Italian, Hungarian and Slovak divisions are irresistibly advancing toward the industrial area of the Donets. Also on the remaining sectors of the front operations are continuing successfully."

German bombers heavily attacked Russian rail lines and communications systems along the entire battlefield, the war bulletin said.

Dispatches to London told how Moscow was becoming one vast bristling fortress under the state of siege proclaimed by Stalin. That the German drive was being held up there was indicated by two successive communiques, late yesterday and at noon today. The Moscow radio said the Germans had attempted to turn the Russian flanks in the Maloyaroslavets area but were halted by strong resistance.

Tom Moore Speaks

Labor Head Criticizes Wage Pegging

OTTAWA (CP)—Tom Moore, president of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, said today "it was incomprehensible" that Canadian workers had not been given the fullest opportunity to express their views on the federal wage and prices stabilization program before final action was taken.

The program was announced by Prime Minister Mackenzie King Saturday. (See story Page 2).

Both in its terms and the manner of its introduction, Mr. Moore said, the government program "is the longest step yet taken by any democracy towards the establishment of a totalitarian state."

INFLATION NOT WANTED

"All are agreed that inflation should be prevented, but there will be a wide divergence of views as to whether the new proposals are the best way to accomplish this, or in fact whether they are practical of application," Mr. Moore said.

"The action now taken, instead of helping the war effort, might well result in a renewal of industrial unrest even greater than that which followed the imposition of P.C. 7440" (covering the federal wartime wages policy).

Mr. Moore said it had been proved that order-in-council 7440 had failed to check the rising cost of living by freezing wages and further, that such wage increases as have taken place since the order was passed nearly a year ago have been moderate and have not been responsible for the increased cost of living, except to a minor degree.

"What reason is there to assume, therefore, that a still more drastic freezing of wages is necessary to check inflation?" he asked in a prepared statement.

LIST QUESTIONS

Mr. Moore said the workers would want the following questions answered:

It was recalled Maloyaroslavets was the point where Napoleon on October 24, 1812, encountered Russian forces during his retreat from Moscow. Their resistance further weakened his troops and forced them to take the road to Smolensk, which already had been devastated during the advance on Moscow.

"On the central front," the Russian radio said, "the Soviet army is holding back the enemy and preventing him from moving on the capital."

"In the past day (Sunday) and night, the Germans in spite of their losses have increased their pressure—which has complicated the defence of Moscow."

It added that the Germans resumed their attacks on a number of sectors in the Orel district, 200 miles south of Moscow, but the Russians "successfully counter-attacked."

Generally, the Russians presented a picture of heavy fighting but successful defence.

Reuter's news agency reported that the Moscow radio announced today the recapture of the village of Pogostie near Leningrad.

totally inadequate wages," Mr. Moore said.

"If the federal government can, under the War Measures Act, take authority to put a ceiling on the wages of all workers, whether engaged in war industries or not, then it should take the same authority to see that the minimum wages of 25 cents an hour for female workers and 35 cents for male workers over 18 years of age, provided by P.C. 7679 of Oct. 14, and applicable now only to war contracts, is universally applied."

BY BARGAINING

"Again, as the government has already declared that a wage of 50 cents an hour, or $25 a week, is essential to purchase only the necessities of life, then no wages below that level should be frozen, but every encouragement should be given to enable workers through collective bargaining to achieve at least these basic wage rate levels."

"In brief, no wage should be considered either fair or reasonable if it is below what the government itself declares necessary to meet a minimum standard of living."

'Think This Over,' Says Sun

VANCOUVER — "Electors of British Columbia who will carefully consider tomorrow's electoral decision quietly tonight, should consider certain figures," says the Vancouver Sun in an editorial this afternoon entitled "Think This Over."

"In the last 12 months, the provincial government has retired $29,667,342 of the public debt. The gross debt of British Columbia has been reduced by $2,071,313 since the government took office in 1933."

"In the last year the net debt (total debt less sinking funds) has been reduced by $5,547,036. British Columbia is the only province in Canada to reduce its gross debt in the last eight years. As a result of this change in our debt position, it has been possible for Mr. Hart to borrow cheaper money. Interest rates on our debt have been reduced from 4.7 per cent in 1933 to 4.1 per cent now. All these improvements have occurred in the face of enormous new demands for money."

"The government borrowed $25,000,000 in the last eight years for unemployment relief. It borrowed $4,000,000 for the Pattullo Bridge, a structure that now pays its own way. It spent $7,551,098 on roads, bridges and buildings."

"Though we have borrowed all this money because we had to, our net debt today is only $8,942,692 above what it was in 1933, after some of the hardest years in our history."

"No other province can point to such a record. Voters should think it over tonight."

Timoshenko Out?

BERNE (AP)—The Ankara radio broadcast tonight a Havas (Vichy French) news agency report that Marshal Timoshenko, commander of the Russian armies on the central front, had been dismissed.

(There was no confirmation of this from other sources. However, Premier Josef Stalin's order of the day broadcast from Moscow last night said Gen. Gregory K. Zhukov, hitherto chief of the general staff, was commander of the western army, responsible for defence of Moscow's western approaches.)

Bishop's Party Safe

OTTAWA (CP)—News was received here today that Bishop Joseph Troceller and several other persons who had been missing "for several days" in the northern wilderness "have been found safe."

The Bishop is assistant to Archbishop Gabriel Brenat of Fort Smith, N.W.T., for the Roman Catholic district of Mackenzie.

Premier Pattullo Sure He'll Get 3rd Term

Like his friend Mr. Roosevelt, Premier T. Duff Pattullo is going back for a third term tomorrow. He is as confident of this as he is that the sun will rise in the east in the morning.

He already has reservation on a train to Ottawa where an agreement will be closed with the federal government to peg the provincial income tax revenue for the duration of the war, discuss old-age pension increases, cost-of-living bonuses and a score of other subjects.

Carrying his 68 years with the jauntiness of a man half his age, the Premier radiated this confidence as he marched up and down behind his big desk in the northwest corner of the Parliament Buildings this morning.

He undertook to tell why he thinks the voters of B.C. will keep his government of experience in office with a bumper majority.

"I'd like," he said, "to have more seats than we did in the last House."

"Not that we need the voting strength. Thirty-one seats gave us a good working majority. But we would like to show the rest of Canada the people are behind us in the important negotiations that will come now and after the war."

"The income tax is a vital matter to B.C. We must have a flexible source of revenue to take care of our future development. This is why we have laid down our present policy."

NEVER BEATEN

Such confidence is not out of the way in Mr. Pattullo. He has never lost an election in 25 years on the B.C. balloting front.

The Premier continued: "Right now the Dominion is getting from B.C. the excess revenue over the amount at which our income tax is pegged. This is the extra money created by the war industrial effort."

"Do you know where a lot of that excess money goes? Why, to pay the debt charges of the provinces that accepted debt relief in exchange for their income tax rights. That's what I mean when I say you can't lay down a fixed formula that is fair to all provinces on the income tax and that we are out to help all Canada."

THE WAR

"Naturally we are doing everything we possibly can to help Ottawa win the war," he said. "The federal government directs the war effort. We co-operate to the full, as well as initiate our own measures, and that applies to all departments."

And that, said Mr. Pattullo, is why he asked his old opponent, Harry Pooley, who wants to "give Duff a swift kick in the pants," "whose going to do it?"

Mrs. Scholtz, Harrismith, South Africa, was married at the age of 15. Now 35, she has 15 living children.

Assassination In France

German General Slain

VICHY (AP)—General Holtz, German commandant of the Nantes region of occupied France, was shot to death today in the centre of the city by two men who lay in wait along a street he passed on his way to his office.

He was the highest German officer yet attacked in the wave of terrorism throughout the occupied zone.

One report said he suffered both pistol and shotgun wounds as he fell shortly after 8 a.m. before a blaze of firing which shattered the Monday morning quiet along Cours Saint Pierre in front of Saint Pierre Church.

The assailants, said to have opened fire without warning, disappeared.

The gendarmerie followed the regular army into the occupied zone, completed the mopping-up process after the war, and was charged with maintaining peaceful relations between the French people and the occupation troops.

The outbreak was attributed to an overheated bearing. The company said repairs would be carried out by Wednesday and meanwhile the miners will have an enforced holiday.

King Announces

Living Bonuses for All, Price Ceilings, Farm Aid

OTTAWA (CP)—Government officials today faced the task of establishing machinery for applying the "ceiling" controls of price and service cost levels and stabilization of wages announced by Prime Minister Mackenzie King.

The anti-inflationary policy described by Mr. King in his Saturday night address over the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation national network includes the compulsory, general extension through industry and commerce of the cost-of-living bonus policy, and prohibits increases in basic wages rates except with government permission.

The policy provides additional aid to western wheat growers and to eastern livestock raisers, in order to equalize the position of those in the agricultural industry.

Co-operation Of All Requested

Mr. King admitted at once that these wartime economic measures would necessarily be subject to revisions and adaptations, and said they could be effective in a democratic country only with the patriotic co-operation of all the people.

In general terms, the new steps involve the following regulations and orders:

Tojo Talks of 'Iron Unity'

United Pacific Front Forms Against Any New Japan Move

CANBERRA (CP)—Completion of negotiations for a united Pacific front composed of Britain, the United States, China, the Netherlands East Indies, Australia and New Zealand was reported today in Canberra.

Australian Prime Minister John Curtin said the degree of co-operation between the participants would be substantial, and at the same time reiterated a warning possible extension of the war in the Far East constitutes a serious menace.

Mr. Curtin declared there had been no change in the situation in the Pacific and said he understood discussions between Japan and the United States looking toward a settlement of their differences would be continued.

The prime minister disclosed he had conferred yesterday with Air Marshal Sir Robert Brooke-Popham, British commander-in-chief in the Far East.

He also said he had talked by telephone with Richard Casey, Australian minister at Washington, and Sir Earle Page, special minister at London, now en route to Britain.

Former Prime Minister Arthur Fadden said "Australia has been greatly encouraged by the policy (in the Far East) of the United States."

(The BBC reported today that appeared before a cordon of French and German police could be thrown around the tree-bordered boulevard.

German authorities in Paris declared they would make known the consequences of the attack soon.

German circles said Holtz's rank was gendarmierie general, an office different in duties and less important than any army general.

The gendarmierie followed the regular army into the occupied zone, completed the mopping-up process after the war, and was charged with maintaining peaceful relations between the French people and the occupation troops.

Flaming Fumigant Kills Sick Baby

TACOMA (AP)—A nasal fumigant, being used to treat a baby's cold, exploded today and almost instantly killed six-months-old Richard Robertson, injured his mother and grandmother and set fire to their home.

A second child, Larry, aged two, was rescued.

Fire Chief Emory Whitaker said the fumigant was being heated in an open pan over an electric plate when it suddenly exploded with a blinding flash, hurling flaming fluid across a room in the house.

Agreement to End Labor Differences

An agreement which the International Woodworkers of America claims will indirectly benefit 25,000 woodworking employees in the province was signed in Vancouver Saturday between employees and employers of the Lake Logging Company, Cowichan Lake.

The 14-clause agreement was said to be the first contract in British Columbia's logging industry incorporating an arbitration award and recognizing collective bargaining.

Basis of the contract was an award made by an arbitration board appointed after employees of the company's Cowichan plant left work June 17. Three hundred employees are directly affected.

The agreement recognizes only an employer-employee union, but provides new members must become members of the men's union, which is the International Woodworkers of America. Other clauses provide for collective bargaining, safety regulations, seniority, hours of work, "no discrimination," leave of absence and renewed arbitration in case of dispute.

One clause of the agreement, which will expire April 1, 1943, provides that if an employee is expelled from the men's union, the company must be satisfied there was justification.

Hands of a National War Labor Board, working with regional labor boards, each equally representative of employers and employees.

Details of the regulations as they affect individual activities will be announced from time to time as they are worked out by the departmental officers.

Small businesses will not be included in the regulations affecting payment of wages and cost-of-living bonuses, but their exclusion will be due only to administrative difficulties.

Labor Minister McLarty said that although basic wage rates in industry or commerce cannot be changed without permission under the new policy, increases for promotion or increased responsibility will continue.

Civil Servants Outside Scheme

Some details of the plan for extending the cost-of-living bonus remain to be worked out, the minister said. One of the things not decided yet is the maximum salary level at which bonuses would be paid. Distinction would be made between "wages" and "salaries" and men in executive positions and other higher-paid employees would not be eligible.

Provincial and municipal government employees, domestic help and farm laborers would also be outside the scheme.

Boards Have Task Of Administration

Price-fixing and regulating will be in the hands of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board. Wage regulations will be in the hands of a National War Labor Board, working with regional labor boards, each equally representative of employers and employees.

Details of the regulations as they affect individual activities will be announced from time to time as they are worked out by the departmental officers.

Policies Same, Methods Change

"Only in methods of carrying out these two chief items of policy... does the action of Japan change," the editorial continued. "Japanese actions will be dynamic in strategy if static in principle."

Applying this statement to talks initiated by former Premier Prince Fumimaro Konoye with a view to settling differences between Japan and the United States, the Times and Advertiser said:

"It should be understood, for example, that the message Prince Konoye sent to President Roosevelt was not a personal expression by the former head of the government. It was sent when the war minister who is now premier was in closest co-operation with the prince."

Bulgars Carry Out Massacres

15,000 Greeks Slain

LONDON (CP)—The Greek government in exile said today 15,000 Greeks had died in "a series of brutal massacres" by Bulgars in the Kavalla district and province of Drama, Greece.

The government stated it had received the information in a cable "from official sources."

The Greeks, although virtually unarmed, killed 330 Bulgars and seven Germans, the cable, dated Sunday, said.

The Kavalla district and Drama province are in that part of Macedonia occupied by Bulgaria after the Axis invasion of Greece.

(A Greek uprising in the Drama region was reported recently to have been crushed.)

The cable said revolt broke out in the Kavalla district after Greek and Jewish hostages were shot "indiscriminately."

Rebellion which spread all over Drama province was deliberately exploited by agitators, the cable said, adding that, "based on the statement of eye-witnesses, 15,000 was a conservative estimate of the number killed."

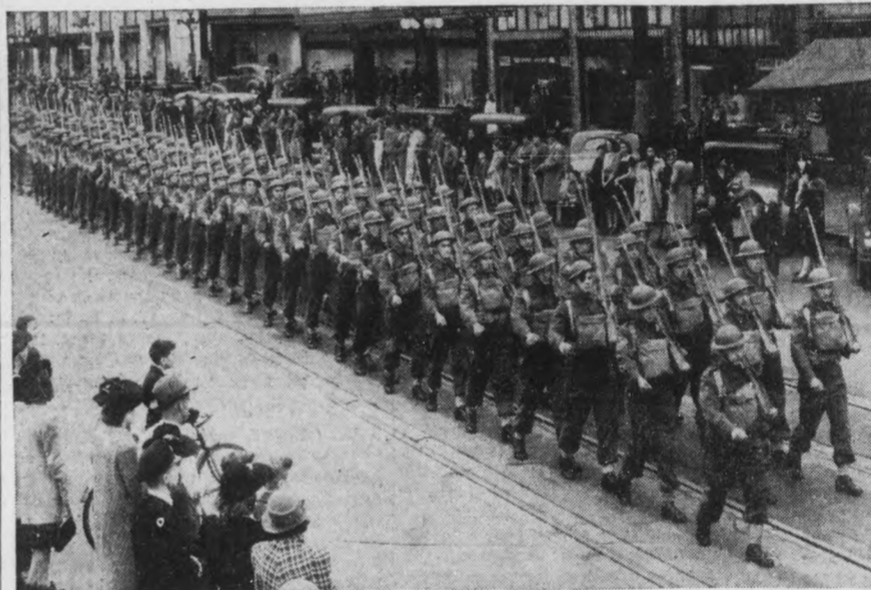

Oak Bay United Church North Group will meet at the home of Mrs. O. A. Henry, 1534 Yale Avenue, Monday, at 2.45.

Bluejackets, leading the parade, swing up Douglas Street, accompanied by the R.C.N. Band. There were 500 men from H.M.C.S. Naden and H.M.C.S. Givenchy.

With rifles and light marching equipment, men of the Royal Canadian Artillery march in the van of the army representation of 1,500 soldiers.

Prepare for Offensive

Canada Training Armored Division

OTTAWA (CP)—The most compact bundle of fighting power ever trained in Canada is the 5th Canadian (Armored) Division.

Hard-driving, fast-shooting, mechanically-minded men from all parts of the Dominion make up this formation, which in days to come is destined to play a role in defence of Britain, or as part of the spearhead of British invasion forces on the continent of Europe.

The division, under Major-Gen. E. S. Sansom, is not the first armored formation which has had training in Canada. Previously there was the tank brigade under Brig. F. Worthington, which now is serving in Britain.

But the armored division is the first such formation trained and equipped to operate independently somewhat in the manner of the German armored formations which smashed through the defences in France and Flanders.

SEASONED LEADER

Gen. Sansom, who went overseas with the 1st Division, and was recalled to command the 3rd, is a professional soldier with battle experience in the First

Great War and long training and administrative experience.

As described by Defence Minister Ralston, the armored division consists of about 13,000 men organized in some 40 different units, including signals, engineers and ordnance formations.

Its primary equipment is cruiser tanks, but in addition its establishment calls for scores of motorcycles, armored cars and trucks.

Activities of the armored fighting vehicle training centre at Camp Borden, where the division took shape, were given an impetus when Canada acquired more than 200 used tanks from the United States. Prior to that the practical work of the tank men was done on the few British-made tanks obtained by Canada for prewar training. Canada now has embarked on tank manufacture.

Declares Crete Pyrrhic Victory

WASHINGTON (AP)—A suggestion Crete taught the Germans a costly lesson on how not to invade Britain was advanced today by a United States army parachute officer.

Lieut. John E. Minter, a member of the pioneer 501st Parachute Battalion at Fort Benning, Ga., estimated upwards of 13,000 Nazi parachutists were dropped on the Greek island, "apparently at random," and that a large proportion was wiped out.

"It was truly a Pyrrhic victory," Lieut. Minter said in the

STALIN'S ORDER

MOSCOW (AP)—Text of the decree issued early today by Premier Josef Stalin, chairman of the Russian state committee for defence, declaring a state of siege in Moscow:

"It hereby is declared that the defence and policing at the approaches to Moscow 60 to 75 miles to the west of the town has been entrusted to the commander of the western front army, Gen. Comrade Jukov, Commander of garrisons in city of Moscow, Lt.-Gen. Comrade Artemiev, is entrusted with defence of the city.

"To secure the rear for the defence of Moscow and the strengthening of the rear of the forces defending Moscow as well as to stop any subversive activity of spies, diversionists and other agents of German Fascists, the government committee for defence has decided:

"The state of siege is to be enforced in the town of Moscow and the surrounding districts as from October 20, 1941.

"All street traffic both pedestrian and vehicular is to stop between midnight and 5 o'clock in morning. Exception will be made for officials and persons in possession of passes from the commander of the town. If an air-raid warning is sounded movement of the population and of transport must proceed according to the rules established by the Moscow anti-aircraft defence.

"Maintenance of strictest order in the town and suburban areas is entrusted to the commander of Moscow, Maj.-Gen. Comrade Sinlov, for which purpose forces of the inner defence, workers and volunteer battalions are put at his disposal.

"Disturbers of order shall immediately be held responsible and handed over for trial to a military court. Provocateurs, spies and other agents of the enemy inciting the population to disturb the order shall be shot on the spot.

"The government committee for defence appeals to all workers in the capital to maintain order and calm and lend to the Red army defending Moscow every possible assistance."

(Signed) "Josef Stalin, chairman of the state committee for defence."

The executive of the Saskatchewan W.A. met recently at the home of the president, Mrs. A. Ball. Plans were completed for the dance to be held tonight at Foresters' Hall. The entire proceeds from this dance will be used for gift packages of Christmas cheer for men on active service. The next regular meeting will be held at the Douglas Hotel October 27 at 8 p.m.

Infantry Journal, writing of the Nazi conquest of Crete. "But in the long run it may have been a good investment, for the Nazi army cannot have failed to make radical changes in the plans for the projected invasion of England on the strength of the experiment."

Dropping parachute troops on a defended area, without previous effective steps to neutralize the defence, "is like pouring dish-water down the drain," Minter contended.

No Time to Change

SUPPORTERS OF ALL PARTIES ASKing for the votes of the people of British Columbia tomorrow are able to look back on the campaign which will come to an end tonight as one noteworthy for an almost complete absence of personalities. Some temperatures perhaps have soared on occasion; some arguments may not have seemed quite so convincing when contemplated in cold print as they did when they were uttered before a sympathetic audience; but political fare in this and other countries is often less remarkable for its constructive character than for its forthright partisan complexion. Nor need any tears be shed on this account. With all its faults, its irritations, and frequently its pettiness, we can thank our lucky stars that in this Canada of ours we still live under a system which permits and encourages us to call our governments names if we feel like it. But it is our duty to man the ramparts of liberty; ours the privilege to show, by the exercise of our dearly-won franchise, that we fully appreciate our heritage as free men and free women in a free land.

It is well to bear this in mind—now and always—because the man or the woman who does not take the trouble to cast a ballot tomorrow will have no right to grumble if a government should be elected which neither he nor she wanted. It is not smart or intelligent to apologize for indifference by generalizing on politicians and politics as if both were the creations of the devil. This is the type of perverted philosophy on which the Fascist mind batters at every opportunity; it is the type of mental outlook which encourages dictatorship. We have detected a little of the familiar technique during the progress of this election campaign. One or two newspapers have argued that this was not the time to appeal to the people, that the average citizen was not interested in provincial political affairs. In practically every instance those advancing this contention either lacked the courage to say plainly whom they wanted to govern British Columbia after tomorrow, or vainly sought to becloud the issue with thinly-veiled innuendo. Such emphasis on this negative and nebulous point of view, however, was no compliment to the citizens of this province. They require no tutelage in the working of democracy; they have seen what has happened to more than one sovereign people that failed to buttress their rights and privileges with a sufficiently strong and intelligently-developed public opinion.

In our opinion the people of British Columbia should have no hesitation in endorsing the Pattullo government; its record in office since 1933 is one of which it has every reason to be proud. It has made mistakes; it will probably make more mistakes. There is no perfect government and there never will be a perfect government. However, the administration which asks for new instructions from the people, whose servant it is, is entitled to congratulations on the fact that its errors have been so few. It required a considerable time to repair the damage its Conservative predecessor had wrought, both in government procedure as such, and in its well-nigh disastrous handling of the province's financial business; but the enviable condition of British Columbia's credit in the money markets is unquestionably the best yardstick that can be applied to the administration's achievements in general.

As far as Victoria City, Oak Bay, Esquimalt and Saanich constituencies are concerned, the electors of these communities know the calibre of those Liberals who are awaiting the counting of the ballots as the signal to get behind the government's plans and policies which have for their paramount object the winning of the war. This is not the time to change, to engage in experiments, or to turn over our business to inexperienced hands.

Mr. King's Brave Policy

ALTHOUGH IT WILL REQUIRE THE willing and energetic co-operation of the whole of the Canadian people to insure maximum results, the all-out war on the bogey of inflation which Mr. Mackenzie King declared on Saturday evening will be welcomed by the citizens of this country from the Pacific to the Atlantic. The policy is daring in its implications—as it had to be—because its objective is the prevention of a social and economic condition which had been casting its sinister shadow over the national structure in recent weeks. The Prime Minister is naturally aware of the fact that the action his government has taken with such commendable promptitude and thoroughness represents an experiment never before attempted on this continent and that, having regard to its breadth and variety, it may well stand out as the first of its kind to be initiated by the will and consent of a free people anywhere.

In its main essentials the new policy is designed to control all prices and civilian consumption in Canada, and to extend to all industry the government's wartime cost-of-living bonus plan. Under its aegis, prices are to be pegged at current levels and wages will be brought into line with price advances since the war began. Beginning on November 17, no person will be permitted to sell any goods or supply any service at a price higher than the maximum charged in the four weeks from September 15 to October 11 of this year. In other words, prices are to be halted at the level they have already reached; "except in cases where minimum prices are fixed, prices will be free to fall below the ceiling." To quote the Prime Minister further:

"Henceforward no employer in Canadian industry or commerce may, without permission, increase his present basic wage rates. After November 15 every employer will be obliged to pay a bonus in accordance with the terms specified by government order and to adjust the bonus regularly every three months in accordance with a definite formula."

It will be appreciated, of course, that the ceiling will not be absolutely rigid, for the government naturally realizes that it will not be possible to maintain the present price structure in every particular; these matters nevertheless will be for administrative action at the discretion of the War-time Prices and Trade Board. In the widest application of the new policy, however, the Canadian War Effort will become a much more intimate undertaking for every man, woman and child throughout the length and breadth of the Dominion. It is a timely recognition of the disastrous effects on the social and economic life of Canada that would be produced if the present loosely-controlled system were allowed to continue.

At the present time the Canadian people have more to spend than they ever have had before; and there are less things for them to buy. There are less things to buy now because the government is competing with the individual consumer for almost all commodities. And it is expected that during 1941 at least 40 per cent—compared with 10 per cent at the same stage in the Great War—of the national income must be devoted to essential war purposes. Reducing consumption by allowing prices to rise unchecked, while easy and simple in its mechanics, would be grossly unjust—and perilous for the future. The heaviest burden such an unfair procedure would create would fall upon those least able to bear it. The policy laid down by Mr. King, therefore, is necessary in the public interest—and essential to our all-out war effort.

The People's Business

THIS IS A SENTENCE FROM AN EDITORIAL which appeared in Saturday's issue of the Vancouver Daily Province:

"If there is no justification for a partisan government at Ottawa in this crisis, and there is not, there is still less for a partisan government at Victoria."

Apart from the fact that the mainland newspaper to which we refer does not know its own mind, it is extraordinary that it virtually ignores the existence of a democratic electoral system in this Canada of ours, and that the people of Canada, in a properly-constituted election, gave Mr. MacKenzie King a new mandate in March of last year which left not a scintilla of doubt as to its meaning. Will it be argued by our contemporary that the intelligent electors of this Dominion did not know what they were doing when they issued to the Canadian Prime Minister the new instructions for which he had asked?

On the basis of the Vancouver Province's argument, are we to assume that after the people of British Columbia have endorsed the Pattullo administration tomorrow—as we feel sure they will—they must prepare themselves for a "curtain lecture" from a newspaper which, by implication and inference, at any rate, is impatient of democratic judgment when this does not coincide with its hazy point of view?

It is the business of the people to say what kind of government they want. To argue otherwise, of course, is to question the wisdom of the principle of our elective system.

"Home town boy makes good" is a cheering headline. A better one is "Home boy makes good town."

The bright side is that you can now buy something without having it made obsolete by a new model next week.

Judging by some of the casualty reports, Nazi troops are bravely pushing eastward behind a screen of Rumanians.

'COLOSSAL BLUNDER'

From Toronto Globe and Mail

Sir Gerald Campbell, former British High Commissioner to Canada, is now in charge of the Library of Information in New York, and, notwithstanding his success and popularity as a consul-general, he is a disappointment as a publicity director because he is not a trained newspaperman and does not know what makes news. The result is that excellent opportunities for building good will have been missed.

An example of lost opportunities was seen during the recent visit to the United States of the Duke of Kent. Thirty top-notch American newspapermen went to La Guardia Field to meet the Duke, who could have talked from first-hand knowledge about the marvellous exploits of the Royal Air Force, but Sir Gerald Campbell, representing British officialdom, took charge and intimidated the American newspapermen that all questions to the Duke must be censored by him (Sir Gerald). Moreover, he intimidated that tradition prohibited the Duke from answering other than harmless, general questions. He simply must not discuss "affairs." So the extraordinary spectacle was witnessed of 30 highly-placed and experienced newspapermen conducting an interview with British Royalty on the subject of the weather and like inanities. This was a fantastic and colossal blunder, which earned and received the disapprobation of the entire American press.

OBITUARY

THE PROVINCIAL political campaign which now goes into history, will find no notable place there. By the time this is printed, perhaps, it will be forgotten already, except by the recording angels whose grim duty it is to set down the record of such things for posterity. And posterity will hardly read it.

So far as I could discover by reading about it in the newspapers, the campaign was insufferably dull and the speeches universally mediocre. Not a striking thing was said in the campaign and not a phrase coined. And nobody has been beaten up or even slightly bruised. What has happened to our politics?

For me it was a luxury to sit through a campaign and never attend a meeting. For 20 years I used to attend political meetings in the line of duty and write long, inaccurate and illegible accounts of them, from the mayoralty campaigns of the city to the speeches of prime ministers. This is what soured me on life and caused me to become a hermit in my middle age—just too much politics. But I do remember that in the old days political campaigns generated some human emotion, some of the queer chemistry of combat which could keep even a newspaper reporter awake. Or are these merely pleasant memories of a man growing old? Were the campaigns of the past any more exciting than that we have just passed through?

ON THE DESERT AIR

PERHAPS THE PRESENT pallid state of politics is merely a reflection of our own mood. We are too interested in other matters to get excited about these local occurrences. Perhaps the politicians this time made as good speeches, and produced as witty sayings, as ever only we were too worried about the war to listen to them. Perhaps some great pieces of oratory were born in bluish unseen and waste their sweetness on the desert of the public mind. Perhaps the candidates had as much fun as ever, and we didn't notice because we are all growing old.

Yet I hardly think so. I have searched the public prints most carefully (where the reporters, by the way, have a much easier time than we had, for they write only half a column where we would write three columns at least) and I have been unable to find in any of these accounts a single idea which adds anything to our store of knowledge or a single quip which adds to our store of fun, at a time when we need all we can get. There have been, of course, the usual friendly distortion of facts and figures which you expect at such a time, and no one bothers to correct them; such a complete misunderstanding of the Rowell-Sirois report, for example, as you would hardly expect in a high school debating society; and such a wild optimism about the future of British Columbia's finances and revenues as you are bound to get at such a time—along with the opposition's black pessimism, which also is expected. But nothing new. No ideas.

I suppose there were no ideas really when I used to hover hopefully on the outer edges of politics, eagerly consuming the crumbs of wisdom that fell from the table of such worthies as John Oliver, W. J. Bowser, Dr. Tolmie, Dr. MacLean, Harry Stevens and Dick Burde. Perhaps the wisdom was not striking but at least it was interesting.

GREAT ISSUES

MR. OLIVER could fight an election on the charge that Mr. Bowser had spent government money to dig a well for a friendly farmer at Cobble Hill; or perhaps it was Mr. Bowser who fought the election on the charge that Mr. Oliver had dug the well. I forget the details, but it was sufficient to hold a vast audience spellbound in the Royal Victoria Theatre. Dr. MacLean could make our very flesh creep with excitement when he hinted about a forthcoming sale of the P.G.E.C., on which several elections were successfully fought and on which doubtless others will be fought in the future. Who will forget how Dick Burde could keep the Legislature sitting half the night while he attacked the entomologists of the Department of Agriculture for their cruelty in thrusting pins through coddling moths for their collections? And forever in the memory, like the pleasant remembrances of childhood, are Dr. Tolmie's beaming face and his barnyard stories, his tale of adventure in the high life of London and those other inimitable flashes from a great human heart.

Before my time, they say, politics was still more exciting, when Joe Martin used to form cabinets by picking up one loafer on a corner and swearing him in as a minister of the Crown; when the Legislature walked out on the Lieutenant-Governor as he read his speech from the throne and the paper called His Honor that "obese and shiny monster." Before that again, in Confederation days, mobs from peaceful Victoria stormed the old wooden Parliament Buildings in what was called The Rebellion and made such a row that the legislators had to close up shop.

No one does anything like that now. No one walks out on the Lieutenant-Governor. No one storms the buildings. No one attacks the digging of a well at Cobble Hill and thrills a vast audience with the horrid details of the digging, the waste of several hundred dollars. Why you can waste millions now and nobody cares a hoot. Nay, no one even sells the P.G.E. any more and nobody tells barnyard stories like the doctor. At this rate of improvement and increasing respectability what will election campaigns be like in the future? Perhaps a few years from now we may look back and shake our heads and regret the lively old days of 1941, when politics were full of thrills, speeches full of wit and statesmen full of wisdom.

This Is Our Navy Week

Canada's Navy keeps the seas. Through fair weather and foul, in rain or fog, its ships and men maintain their vigil. Here is one looming out of the mist, while in one of her consorts a seaman stands his watch.

Canada is celebrating Navy Week.

Throughout the Dominion, from the Pacific to the Atlantic, through industrial centres and prairie provinces, the Navy League of Canada is calling the nation to pay tribute to the men of the sea who, in their ships of war, are winning the war of the free peoples.

Nowhere in Canada is there better right to mark Navy Week than in this Pacific coast province of British Columbia.

From her cities and towns, villages and farms, from seacoast and from inland, her men have answered the call to man Canada's fighting ships in their war at sea.

They have answered it so splendidly that today, from a province with less than 10 per cent of the Dominion's entire population, have come almost a quarter of the officers and an eighth of the seamen serving with the Royal Canadian Navy.

It was only natural that the Pacific coast province should bear its full share in the rapid growth of the navy, for from the very inception of the Royal Canadian Navy, Esquimalt has been one of its two main naval bases. From here, at the outbreak of war, two destroyers steamed into the Pacific, warheads on their torpedoes and live shells in their ready-ammunition racks, on the first leg of a two-ocean cruise which was to help make history.

From there, too, a little later in the war, two more destroyers, shrouded in the secrecy which cloaks ship movements in wartime, slipped quietly away from their base for service in the Atlantic which was to add further glory to Canada's naval participation in this war.

FAREASTERN FACTS

The highly-authoritative Institute of International Affairs has recently issued bulletins which give useful information about Soviet strength in East Asia. The area has been made as far as possible self-contained. It does not, however, feed itself fully and depends more on imports via sea than via rail from European Russia.

The unknown quantity in the Far Eastern military picture is how far the military forces there have been weakened to buttress the Red armies on the western Russian front. My information, for what it is worth, indicates that the Red armies facing the Japanese are amply strong for the ordeal in hand.

A speedy clean-up of the Japanese menace in the Pacific area might even prove more than an offset for Hitler's great successes against Russia in Europe. As long as the democracies are forced to keep in the Pacific huge naval, air and land forces, their task in holding, and then beating, Hitler in Europe is too formidable. But the release of all those forces, which would follow a real defeat of Japan, would be of the greatest importance.

Considered separately from that in Europe, the military picture in Asia is almost ideal, from the standpoint of the anti-Japanese bloc. The United States strategists have been waiting a long time for the very crisis that now faces them. Those who should know are confident that they could either sink every Japanese warship within a matter of weeks or drive these ships to port, as the Germans are in Europe. In such case the position of the Japanese armies in China can speedily be made to become desperate. They are in somewhat the same, but not exactly the same, position as were the Italians in Ethiopia. They could not possibly hold out long against a combination of superior enemy naval force and increasing military opposition within the country itself.

NEW FRONTS

Does that mean landing Allied armies in China? No. But it does mean opening new fronts for the Chinese armies—probably working from the south to north, one step at a time.

The Chinese, who without help of any real value from the outside world, have shown for more than four years not only their ability to hold out, but to begin to come ahead, can be depended on to make a clean sweep of the invaders if given the kind of help they most need.

That is why, everything considered, I do not consider the Nazi victories at Moscow as an unmitigated evil. For if, as I think extremely probable, one result is to bring both Japan and the United States into the war, the ultimate outcome is sure.

The world which is still free will surely defeat the aggressors—even though that defeat takes years—if they act on one basic principle: That is that from now on, for all time to come, they must stand together not only for their own self-defence, but for the defence of freedom of every victim of gangster aggression.

Perhaps the tide of aggression had to roll right round the earth, as it did from Manchuria in 1931 to Moscow in 1941, before the people of the democracies realized that an attack on anybody is an attack on everybody.

MUSICAL CRISIS BRIDGED

From Seattle Times

When he learned one day last week of the ruling that he couldn't re-enter the United States without fresh visa to his visitor's permit, Sir Thomas Beecham declared himself "all fed up" and his amplifying remarks indicated that he was all burned up as well.

Sir Thomas was due to begin rehearsals as conductor of the Seattle Symphony. In the first onset of ire, Sir Thomas showed something less than the admirable control he always exercises over the brasses and tympani. He went so far as to speak of American immigration rules as "flummery."

Happily the crisis has been bridged. The State Department at Washington gives Sir Thomas an encouraging pat on the quivering shoulder; recognizes him as a friend and an ally, and tells him to come along without delay. The new visa is to await later affixation.

The Times has never been in sympathy with arbitrary rulings of immigration authorities, which often do great injustice to uninformed visitors from other lands. But Sir Thomas has been coming to the United States off and on since a boy of 14. He is a man of intelligence. Having so often visited this country he should be as familiar with the primary requirements for admission as he is with Beethoven's "V."

STILL MORE TAXES FOR U.S.

From New York World-Telegram
We might as well all get used to the idea of stiff taxation. The taxes which Congress is now laying will be only a taste of what is to come.

Consider the figures:
The U.S. government is now budgeted to spend $22,000,000,000 this fiscal year—and is eager to spend more money than that if the tempo of armament production can be speeded up.
With the new tax bill it will be budgeted to collect around $13,000,000,000.

So, at best, from the fiscal standpoint, we'll be borrowing nearly half of what we spend.
That's a far cry from Treasury Secretary Morgenthau's goal of financing the government on a two-thirds pay-as-we-go basis through this war period.
Hence more, and heavier, taxes are inevitable.

The expert becomes the man who knows so much about a subject that he cannot lead us to do what ought to be done about it.—Lenard W. Cronkhite, Committee for National Morale

Hart Reviews Record

B.C. Holds Enviably Financial Position

Covering an eight-year period of achievement, including a financial record unequalled by any other province in the Dominion, and reviewing British Columbia's outstanding contribution to the nation's war effort, Hon. John Hart, Minister of Finance, addressed the electorate over radio station CJVI Saturday, calling upon all voters to return the present administration by turning out on Tuesday and exercising their franchise by supporting the Liberal candidates.

The text of Mr. Hart's speech is as follows:

"In speaking to you in support of the Liberal administration, I do so confident in the knowledge that the greatest trial of any government is the test of time, and that the present administration has undergone that test and emerged with the confidence of the people still reposed in it.

"In the record of the government's accomplishments is to be found a pledge, not only of its future sincerity, but also of its policy for the welfare of the people as a whole.

"It is, therefore, my intention this evening to present a summary of the government's record of achievement. Each and every department of the government's service has made a very definite contribution to the progress of the province, and the betterment of the welfare of its people.

PUBLIC SAFEGUARDS

"Thus we find added control over motor traffic, by the institution of drivers' tests and patrol system, for the minimizing of accidents. A Borstal school for the rehabilitation of delinquent youths has been established. A new Securities Act now provides greater safeguards to investors and investment houses alike. Credit unions have been established for the benefit of those in the lower-salary brackets.

"Tuberculosis control has been expanded with most beneficial results to the public. Mothers' allowances have been increased, child welfare work expanded, and hospitalization facilities increased by government grants.

"Through improvements in the curriculum and teaching requirements, the whole standard of education has been raised. Bursaries have been provided for promising scholars. Consolidation of school districts has effected savings and improved education standards, while the establishment of junior high schools has widened the scope of training.

REFORESTATION PLAN

"One of the first steps taken by the government, when it assumed office in 1933, was to restore the forest fire protection service. Since then, measures have been provided for the conservation of our timber resources through reforestation and the setting up of timber reserves. During the present year alone, no less than 7,000,000 trees were planted over denuded areas, while to date 20,000,000 acres of timber land have been reserved.

"Municipal affairs have received special attention, and valuable assistance has been given in connection with municipal refunding programs.

"British Columbia leads all Canada in labor legislation. Its Industrial and Conciliation and Arbitration Act serves as a model for other provinces, and has done much to minimize the danger of strikes and bring about closer employer-employee relationships.

LABOR MEASURES

"Considerable betterment of labor conditions has been effected through minimum wage, hours of labor and apprenticeship legislation, while a Board of Industrial Relations has been set up to improve the lot of workers. Unemployment relief allowances in British Columbia are on a higher standard than any other province, and every effort has been made to rehabilitate the unemployed by placing them in useful occupations.

"Much has been done to improve the agricultural and fishing industries by stabilizing markets and removing discriminatory regulations and abuses.

"Many new mining areas have been opened up and study of a report is even now in progress which, it is hoped, will lead to the establishment of a steel industry on the coast.

GASOLINE PRICE CUT

"By establishing the Coal and Petroleum Control Board the gasoline trade has been stabilized and a reduction in the price of gasoline has resulted in an annual saving of $1,200,000 to motorists. The setting up of the Public Utilities Commission has led to a standardizing of rates.

"More than 2,200 miles of new roads have been added to the provincial network since 1933. New surfaces have been provided for 970 miles of roads, while another 840 miles of highways have been resurfaced. I do not think it is necessary to draw your attention to the very great improvements that have been carried out on the Island Highway and other island roads, for these are obvious. In all, the province now has a total of 22,000 miles of roads and bridges.

RETAIL TRADE STABILIZED

"By the passage of special legislation, a great deal has been done to stabilize retail trade through the Commodities Minimum Loss Act, the Closing-out Sales Act, and the Commodities Retail Sales Act.

"Of particular importance is the financial position of the province, and it should be a source of utmost gratification to all that no other province in Canada can show a financial improvement comparable to that of British Columbia.

In order to give some conception of the progress that has been made under the Liberal administration of the past eight years it is necessary to remind you that when we assumed office in 1933 the finances of the province were in a chaotic condition. Our credit had vanished and our services had been allowed to deteriorate to a point where even the barest essential requirements could not be met. So low were our revenues that it was impossible to meet the cost of unemployment relief or to set aside debt redemption provisions from current income.

CHAOTIC CONDITION MET

"The position was critical and every resource was utilized to meet the emergency, and at the same time a financial policy was adopted designed to cope with existing and possible future conditions.

"It is not proposed to detail the progressive steps followed—they have been outlined fully in various budget addresses—but it is desired to summarize the success that has crowned our endeavors.

"It has not been an easy task. Our policy was one requiring drastic remedial measures and long-range planning which, while elastic enough to cope with probable economic changes would also enable a rapid restoration of services and provincial credit.

"We had a gross debt of nearly $170,000,000 in 1933. Since then we had to borrow more than $25,000,000 for unemployment relief; our roads, bridges and buildings were in such a condition as to compel the borrowing of more than $11,550,000 to provide adequate public services; we increased our gross debt $5,825,000 by issuing direct obligations to insure actuarial soundness to the municipal and teachers' pensions funds, and for other purposes there were borrowed some $1,300,000. Yet despite these borrowings the gross debt is $2,070,000 less than it was in 1933; it is that much less because, in addition to the use of $27,350,000 of sinking funds specifically set aside for maturities, we were able to provide, for debt repayments, $18,410,000 from current revenue and revenue surpluses.

DEBT IS REDUCED

"This reduction of $2,070,000 in our gross debt during the past eight years becomes more significant when contrasted with the increase of $62,650,000 in the gross debt during the five years of Conservative regime which ended in November, 1933.

"No other province in Canada can show a reduction in its gross debt for this period. In fact, we find elsewhere increases ranging from $5,855,000 in Prince Edward Island to $288,000,000 in Quebec.

"Our net debt, despite the heavy and unavoidable borrowings referred to, has only increased by some $8,940,000 during the past eight years, or by a sum much lower than that spent on projects which directly or indirectly are self-supporting.

"When foretelling a major financial crisis during 1941, our critics suggested that this government, because of lack of funds and credit, was going to find it impossible to either repay or refund its obligations.

"HEAVY DEBT RETIREMENT
"Again, what are the facts? The facts are that since October 1, 1940, the province has repaid more than $29,000,000 of maturities; that it has reduced its gross debt by approximately $24,227,000, and its net debt by $5,547,000.

"For the purpose of clarity and record, let me again inform you that, after meeting a maturity of $2,000,000 on October 26, our gross debt will amount to $164,927,000; our sinking funds to $19,166,000, and our net debt to $145,761,000. These are definite figures. Let me also add that all our obligations this year were and will be met in full from either sinking funds or revenue, and that not one cent was or will be refunded.

"The magnitude of the achievement during the past eight years is perhaps best expressed by the market reaction to our provincial obligations. Take as an instance 12-year British Columbia 4½ per cent bonds. Since November, 1933, their price has increased by no less than $17.68 per $100. By the reduction in debt, as already stated, our annual interest requirements, since December 30, 1940, have been reduced by $1,225,000, and our annual sinking fund requirements by $421,000.

TAXES REDUCED

"While this was being done, public services were restored to an adequate standard, tax reductions lightened the burden on the small income taxpayer by more than $1,200,000 annually, farmers were allowed as high as $300,000 a year for work in lieu of taxes, and municipal aid was increased by some $2,200,000.

"This province has made a war contribution of $1,000,000 annually by assuming the Dominion's share of unemployment relief costs.

"As a further measure of co-operation in the war effort, the province abandoned, for the duration of the war, the income and corporation tax fields. In fact, British Columbia was the first province to embrace this proposal by the Dominion.

FURTHER WAR AID

"In outlining what has been done to assist the Dominion in its war effort, I would like to point out that, within a few hours of the outbreak of hostilities, the provincial government placed all integral industries and public utilities under armed guard, turned over all available public works camps to the army and placed all its resources at the disposal of the federal authorities. This was followed by every assurance to the Dominion that British Columbia would render the utmost assistance.

"A very heavy burden of expenditure has been borne in regard to Canada's war program. Apart from turning over provincial camps to the military authorities, roads have been widened and strengthened and bridges reinforced or replaced to meet military needs at no cost whatsoever to the Dominion government. The Department of National Defence has been assisted in the construction of every airport in British Columbia by the loan of public works equipment and the use of its skilled men.

"A volunteer police reserve of 2,200 men has been formed; A.R.P. units have been established all over the province, with a personnel of more than 20,000; fire-arms and weapons control has been instituted; registration of aliens made, and the police radio system put on a wartime basis.

OTHER ASSISTANCE

"Nearly 80 per cent of our mapping and survey work has been for national defence. Field workers have found many new sources of war materials. Courses have been set up to train men for war industries and for specialized branches of the three services. Several of our government agencies have, within the scope of their ability, assisted in relieving various food and other shortages in Great Britain, the supply of timber to essential war industries has been speeded up, and the cabinet is now engaged in planning for the post-war period.

"This, in brief, means that provincial services are again adequate; our credit is equal to the best, and is still improving. Not only this, but we are prepared to meet the exigencies of post-war reconstruction and to deal adequately with those problems arising therefrom, problems which already have had serious consideration by a committee of the government.

"That is the spirit in which British Columbia, as one of the provinces within the great Confederation, met its responsibilities. That is the spirit in which we today address ourselves to the task of war, and that is the spirit in which the government proposes to tackle all problems during this period of national emergency," Mr. Hart concluded.

WHEELER CALLS BAXTER LIAR

NEW YORK (CP)—Beverly Baxter said before leaving by clipper for Britain that Senator Burton K. Wheeler, leading American isolationist, had told him that "England is fighting a Jewish war," and that the United States is determined not to be involved in a "war of revenge on behalf of the Jews."

Wheeler also told him, Baxter said, that he felt Britain "should make terms with Germany." Baxter's reply was that this would never happen "as long as there is a man alive on the island."

In Washington, Wheeler called Baxter "just a plain damn liar." He gave this version of his talk with Baxter: Baxter asked him if he "thought England was being run by the Jews." Wheeler replied, "I never heard it contended that it was." Wheeler said he did tell Baxter, however, that "there was a lot of anti-Semitism in the United States and that I was very much worried that it was growing."

Conservatives

Maitland Speaks At Last Rally

Victoria Conservatives brought to a close their campaign with a rally at Memorial Hall Saturday night. Before the two main speakers, R. L. Maitland, K.C., provincial leader of the party, and Herbert Anscomb, the three candidates, Maj. J. D. Hunter, D. D. McTavish and Waldo Skilling, made short addresses.

"Today we stand as a new party," said Mr. Skilling. He, like the two other Victoria candidates, appealed to the electorate for their full support at the polls Tuesday.

Mr. Anscomb devoted his address to a discussion of the seven questions asked him by his Oak Bay opponent, Prof. E. S. Farr. In discussing his attitude to the Sirols conference, Mr. Anscomb said British Columbia should have been open and above board. He said when the Conservatives were elected they would call for a reconsideration of the recommendations.

"The Dominion government has piled extra taxes on gasoline and amusements because B.C. failed to consider the report," he said. He was of the opinion British Columbia could do much more to further the war effort without lowering the standard of social service or endangering the credit of the province.

Attacking the policy of the government on the Sirols report, Mr. Maitland said his first duty, if elected, would be to vindicate the province of the shame in its failure to even consider the report.

"We must have the determination to rise above politics and serve our country in this time of war," he said. "I'm big enough to co-operate with any government to win the war."

He said proof of the failure of the present government to co-operate with the Dominion was the fact that no cabinet minister in Ottawa has suggested the Pattullo government be returned to power.

Post-war unemployment was the second issue Mr. Maitland considered. He pointed to the example of Britain, where, despite all the problems of war, committees had already been set up and were working to meet unemployment problems after the war. The Pattullo government had not set up one committee to consider post-war problems. "They have been planning," he said, "for eight months—for an election."

"If we succeed in this grand experiment of lifting the highways of our province out of politics," he said, "we will blaze the trail for better days of government."

The issues of the campaign were never farther apart, he concluded. "We have to consider first the war and then the post-war problems."

Too Many Fleas

A woman telephoned the Press Gallery at the Parliament Buildings this morning and asked:

"How can I get rid of fleas in my house?"

The reporter who answered couldn't tell her but Dominion Entomologist William Downes could. He also disclosed that there has been a general infestation of fleas in the coast cities as a result of the long dry spells of the last two years.

His investigations into the flea situation also show a distinct relation between it and sawdust. They don't live on sawdust, Mr. Downes explained, but breed in the dust around the edge of the sawdust piles and multiply in millions.

Boiling water poured on the basement floor will kill the cocoons, Mr. Downes said. Derris powder, not only on the dog and cat, but sprinkled on the sawdust pile will fix the fleas. The beds of the dog or cat should be changed frequently and dust removed.

CONCERT FOR TROOPS

The "X" Hut at Macaulay Point was crowded for concerts arranged by Miss Betti Clair. The lively songs and beautifully-costumed dancers won generous applause. Those contributing were: Raymond Clarke, Nellie Playne, Three Rhythmettes, Cathy Willard, Theo Bayles, Joan Buckingham, Jerry Ashe, Margaret Playne, Shirley and Irene Campbell, June Freer, Kay Schofield, Iris Brooks, Jerry Ashe, Betti Clair, Harry Hornby, Frank Bossom. Community singing was led by G. Gordon, with Jerry Schofield at the piano.

Moving pictures from Britain illustrating some of the duties of civilians during air raids will be shown in the auditorium of Oak Bay High School at 8, October 28, by courtesy of the provincial police, civil protection (A.R.P.) branch. All wardens and as many of the public as possible may see them.

HONEYMOON HERE

Attorney-General and Mrs. Smith Troy of Olympia, Wash., are honeymooning at the Empress Hotel. They were married Thursday.

Attorney-General Troy has been active politically in the State of Washington since he was assistant to his brother, Harold Troy, when the latter was Thurston County prosecutor. Smith Troy succeeded his brother as county prosecutor and Harold Troy is now one of his assistants. Smith Troy was appointed Attorney-General April 30, 1940, and was elected to the office last year. Mrs. Troy is the former Dolores Scheffler, whose former husband, Maj. F. Scheffler of the U.S. Army, was killed in a traffic accident during spring manoeuvres in California.

The Attorney-General's first wife was the former Dorothy Moran of Seattle, who died about a year ago.

Officials of McLennan, McFeely and Prior Limited said today their staffs in Vancouver and Victoria had voted in favor of the company's mutual benefit association in preference to affiliation with the Retail Clerks' Union. The latter union has applied to the provincial government for conciliation to settle disputes with management of the firm in New Westminster and Vancouver.

Post $100 Reward

A broken trolley wire on the Gonzales route of the B.C. Electric Railway Co. Ltd., Friday night, was not the work of vandals who have interrupted service on the line several times in recent weeks and for whom $100 reward has been posted.

Street car officials said the trolley wire at Fairfield and Dallas Roads had broken from wear.

The company posted a reward of $100 Friday for information leading to the arrest and conviction of persons who had recently placed obstructions at several points on the company's tracks. It was pointed out by officials the obstructions were of such a nature as to be a menace to the safety of street car passengers, and but for the fact they were observed in good time by the street car operators, the consequence would have been serious.

OAK BAY UNITED SCOUTS

The meeting Friday was opened by Duty Patrol Leader R. Latham of the Buffalo Patrol. A. Thornberry received his second class badge and P. L. Bartlett his plumbers' badge. The troop will distribute pamphlets for the Community Chest October 25. Following patrol corners, competition games were held. A court of honor was held after the meeting.

Blanket Week for Red Cross Opens

Today will be the beginning of blanket week for the Canadian Red Cross Society, when it is launching its second appeal for thousands of urgently-needed new or as good as new blankets and new quilts.

In the last campaign the Red Cross collected throughout Canada 138,137 blankets and 101,234 quilts. This supply has been distributed to victims of bombing raids, military hospitals and to distressed merchant seamen.

Many expressions of gratitude have been received by the Canadian Red Cross from bombed sufferers in Britain. Many have called the contributions of these warm coverings a "God-send."

In such centres as Birmingham, Coventry, Plymouth and London, thousands of Canadian blankets and quilts were made available to the homeless within a few hours of the raid, due to the efficient system of distribution of the Overseas Canadian Red Cross Committee in London.

According to word from Britain the need for more blankets and quilts is most urgent. Blankets must be woolen and new or good as new; quilts must be new.

Those unable to give blankets or quilts may aid the appeal by contributing $2 for the purchase of a single blanket. Donations should be sent Provincial Red Cross headquarters, 213 Marine Building, Vancouver, or to local Red Cross branch headquarters.

Contributors to the appeal are asked to get in touch with their local branch headquarters for directions as to where blankets and quilts may be sent.

Beta Sigma Phi To Install Local Chapter

Following a formal banquet in the Princess Charlotte room at the Empress Hotel this evening, Zeta Chapter of British Columbia Beta Sigma Phi, International, honorary, cultural sorority for young women who have finished school, will be installed by Miss Edythe Burcham, international field executive, who is making an inspection tour of Canadian chapters. Decorations for dinner will include a spreading centrepiece of souvenir roses, accented by ivory tapers in gold standards.

Beta Sigma Phi is the largest Greek letter society in the world today, having active chapters in every Canadian province in each of the 48 states, Alaska and Honolulu, and also members in Scotland, Sweden, England, South America, Australia, Mexico and the Union of South Africa.

The first international convention of the sorority was held in Kansas City, June 20, 21 and 22 of this year. There were 1,582 girls from most of the English-speaking countries in attendance. Senator Iva Fallis, Senator Cairne Wilson and Mrs. Alice Keenleyside of Vancouver were speakers.

ON WAR WORK

All Canadian Beta Sigma Phi are registered under Senator Falls for voluntary war service and eight members are now serving as nurses in England. Through benefit concerts, recitals and dramatic productions the Canadian members, with the assistance of the hundreds of American chapters, have purchased two ambulances and are now carrying on cultural benefit programs for the purpose of purchasing a mobile field kitchen unit.

There are four chapters in Vancouver and one in New Westminster. Alpha Chapter of Vancouver is the oldest Canadian chapter, having been formed by Rilla Billings, whose home was moved to Vancouver after three years of membership in Eta Chapter at Oakland, California, and who carried with her the inspiration for a chapter in her new home. Alpha Chapter of Vancouver sponsored the Drama Festival in May and the entire proceeds, $475, were turned over to the Red Cross. Every chapter has adopted a soldier in England.

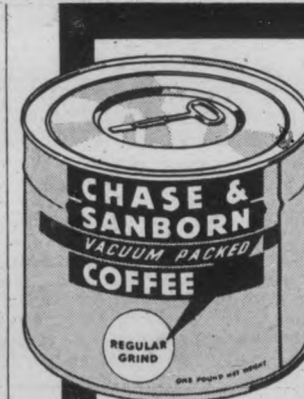

Membership in Beta Sigma Phi is by invitation only and is limited to young women who by reason of their cultural interests and ideals of living can enjoy the advantages offered.

Competitions are held annually in short story writing, poetry, creative art, music composition and photography. A Valentine sweetheart and Mothers' Day prize are awarded at the corresponding seasons.

The British Columbia convention was held this year at Harrison Hot Springs, where Washington and Oregon girls were guests.

A meeting will be held following the banquet and installation tonight, when the officers will be instructed further as to their duties.

The newly-organized Zeta Chapter will meet twice a month for cultural activity and once during the month for social functions. Twenty Victoria girls have been accepted.

NO HAND PUMP, THIS!

THIS IS THE SCRUBBER PUMP that de-acidizes important commercial chemical solutions to the tune of 5,000 gallons per minute. This up-and-at-em pump, designed by Worthington, is built in Toronto by INGLIS. Throughout Canada, in many different industries, you'll find the INGLIS crest on many a mighty machine that is playing a big part in the Nation's program of production.

true in respect to the military and air force personnel, but not so in the naval service.

For your information, a naval rating, married, with two children, joining the service as an ordinary seaman, draws $1.25 per day, basic rate, 75c per day for his wife and 25c per day for each child. Thus he receives a grand total per month of $75. If this naval rating had joined the army he would have drawn $1.30 per day, $35 per month for his wife and $12 per month for each child, giving him a total of $98. This is a difference of $23 monthly.

I admit it is very hard for an army rating's wife to live on this amount with living conditions as they are today, but try and picture a naval rating's wife attempting to struggle along on her meagre allowance.

CANADIAN CLUB MUST BE KEPT OUT OF POLITICS

In Justice to Mr. Herbert Anscomb, will you kindly print the following copy of a letter to him in the correspondence column of your paper:

Replying to your special delivery letter of October 18, written in answer to mine appearing in the press, it was a great satisfaction to learn that you were entirely unaware of the use of the words "Canadian Club" in campaign advertising, until seeing them in the Thursday issue of the Daily Colonist.

It was unfortunate that the two great speakers announced were president and past president of Canadian clubs.

You, as that past president of the Victoria Club, must regret as sincerely as anyone the linking of that organization with a political party.

Canadian Club members include those of every shade of political and religious belief and its standing as a nonpartisan, non-sectarian association is at once challenged when its name is connected with any group. Every member should carefully guard its status in these regards and adhere to the clauses contained in the constitution.

Campaign managers should be instructed to avoid the naming of any nonpolitical organization in their advertising and it is to be hoped that this will be done in the future.

K. F. CARMICHAEL.
Past president, Victoria Women's Canadian Club.

CREDIT AND CONFIDENCE RESTORED IN BRITISH COLUMBIA

No better Provincial security can be had in Canada today, for no Province in Canada can show so splendid a record of improvement in its financial position. British Columbia always has met its contractual obligations in full, and its sound financial policy is a guarantee of a safe field for investment. British Columbia has reaped a bountiful harvest of sound financial achievements from this policy. It has enabled her to:

RETIRE $29,667,342.28 OF THE PUBLIC DEBT DURING THE PAST TWELVE MONTHS, WITHOUT RECOURSE TO REFUNDING.

REPAY $18,410,000 OF PROVINCIAL DEBT FROM REVENUE AND REVENUE SURPLUSES.

REDUCE THE GROSS DEBT OF THE PROVINCE BY $2,071,313.02 SINCE NOVEMBER 1, 1933.

REDUCE ITS NET DEBT BY $5,547,036.25 SINCE OCTOBER 1, 1940.

OCCUPY THE POSITION OF BEING THE ONLY PROVINCE THROUGHOUT THE ENTIRE DOMINION TO SHOW A REDUCTION IN THE GROSS DEBT DURING THE PAST EIGHT YEARS.

TO SCALE DOWN THE AVERAGE RATE OF INTEREST ON THE PUBLIC DEBT FROM 4.7332 PER CENT IN 1933 TO 4.17 PER CENT IN 1941.

TO EFFECT A SAVING OF $1,646,155 IN INTEREST AND SINKING FUND REQUIREMENTS.

While since November 1, 1933, the net debt of the Province has been increased by $8,942,692, consideration must be given to $4,000,000 spent on the Pattullo Bridge and $7,551,098 spent on highways, bridges, and buildings, which are either directly or indirectly self-supporting; finally, to $25,000,000 borrowed to pay part of the cost of unemployment relief.

Private capital has been encouraged to invest in the industries of the Province by being assured of not only sound financial policies on the part of the Government, but a minimizing of labor disputes. B.C. has been kept free of major labor strikes, such as have been experienced elsewhere.

Our basic figures tell the story of the degree to which capital has invested in British Columbia. Production in agriculture, mining, fishing and lumbering has increased by $136,961,000, or 114 per cent, in the last eight years. Manufacturing has increased by $69,619,000, or 100 per cent. Bank deposits have increased by $645,600,000, or 69.79 per cent, while the payroll has increased by $93,000,000 or 61 per cent.

Wherever social and financial security interlocks, there can be no doubt about the safety of your investments. Buy British Columbia—her economy is diversified, her financial position sound, and her credit rating high. Invest your funds in British Columbia now.

MRS. HODGES REPLIES

May I beg the courtesy of your columns to reply to a letter which appeared in the Colonist of Sunday, and in which the writer, Mrs. Gertrude E. Bennett, charged me with appropriating the housing plan from the C.C.F. candidate's platform.

I happen to have been a member of the original committee called together in 1939, under the auspices of the then War Services Auxiliary, to look into the whole problem of securing low rental accommodation for the families of the men of the forces. That committee was composed of representatives of the various welfare agencies, service clubs, women's societies and other groups interested in community problems—and, incidentally, the C.C.F. candidate was not a member.

At no time in my platform utterances have I claimed the housing plan to be a plank in the Liberal platform. But to challenge my right to say that, as a woman I would consider it my duty, if elected, to press for the remedying of the conditions discovered in the course of the committee's investigations, is as unjust and unwarranted as it would be for me to accuse the C.C.F. candidate of appropriating the findings of that and subsequent committees to her own political advantage.

The C.C.F. has loudly voiced its opposition to monopolies on many occasions. Surely it does not intend to claim a monopoly in progressive, humanitarian ideas.

UNFAIR TO SAILORS' WIVES

I would like to draw your attention to the apparent unfairness of treatment given Royal Canadian Navy sailors' wives and dependants. For the last few weeks your paper has been quoting that all men (non-com's, etc.) are receiving $35 per month for a wife and $12 per month for dependant children. This is quite

ELECTORS of BRITISH COLUMBIA:

The Dominion Government expects representatives of the Government of British Columbia to proceed to Ottawa immediately after this election to conclude agreement regarding Income Tax proposals. This agreement will, of course, have to be ratified by the new Provincial Legislative Assembly at the approaching session.

It also will be necessary to discuss at Ottawa other important questions.

What you, the electors, will have to decide on Tuesday is whether you desire that members of your present Government with their thorough knowledge of the situation shall be your representatives at the conference with representatives of the Dominion Government, or that your delegates shall be representatives of the Conservative or C.C.F. Parties who have no such knowledge.

This you must determine on Tuesday, and it is all important.

It is the desire of your present Government to build up a strong British Columbia in order that we may play our part in building up a strong Canada.

British Columbia must not retrogress, but must ever become stronger industrially and socially, the Pacific Bulwark of our glorious Dominion.

WEATHER HOLDS R.A.F. ON GROUND

LONDON (CP)—Bad weather over the continent kept British bombers grounded Sunday night for the third successive night.

German air activity over Britain was on a slight scale and ended before 9 p.m. One plane, however, caused some damage at a place on the coast of East Anglia at dusk and later a few persons were injured in another attack on the area.

One German plane was shot down.

GERMAN CLAIM

BERLIN (AP)—Nazi sources claimed today a 3,000-ton vessel was set afire in St. George's Channel Sunday night by a bomb from a German warplane.

Great Yarmouth was among the objectives along the English southeast and east coasts bombed by night raiders, they added.

(Damage to such a vessel was not confirmed in London.)

Air Force Leads In Expenditures

OTTAWA (CP)—During the quarter ended September 30 the Department of Munitions and Supply awarded 408 construction contracts valued at $37,777,151.

These were divided as follows: Air force, 312, valued at $29,307,145; army, 70, valued at $4,784,149; and navy, 26, valued at $3,685,857.

Construction contracts awarded from July 14, 1939, to date, total 1,558, involving an expenditure of $146,053,920.

The Dominican Republic is pioneering in trying light, small airplanes for regular air mail routes.

Where to Vote Tomorrow

For the first time tomorrow Victorians will vote in a provincial election under the precinct system used in federal elections. Previously voting here has been done by wards.

The city is divided into 100 polling divisions. Oak Bay, which has been taken from the old city riding to form a separate constituency, has 27.

Polls will be open from 8 to 10 p.m. tomorrow morning until 8 in the evening.

In Victoria there are 23,287 people registered to vote, in Oak Bay 6,154, in Saanich 11,517 and in Esquimalt 5,908.

Returning officer H. E. A. Courtney explained this morning that the Provincial Elections Act does not provide that voters shall be officially notified in which precinct they vote. However, he said, he understood the political party organizations had taken care of this.

Following is a list of the polling divisions in the four Greater Victoria ridings:

Man With Monocle Held for Murder

LONDON (CP)—Police investigating four London murders have laid a charge of homicide against Harold Dorain Trevor in connection with the strangling of Mrs. Theodora Greenhill, wealthy 65-year-old widow.

Trevor, sometimes known as Dr. Trevor, a tall greying man who on occasions wears a monocle and often adopts military titles, was arrested Saturday by Scotland Yard officers in the North Wales town of Rhyl.

The other murders under investigation—there has been nothing to indicate there is any connection among them—are those of 19-year-old Mabel Church, John Child, 54, and Eric Norman Humphries, 35.

Miss Church was found lying on a staircase in a bombed and abandoned building; Child was shot to death in a little hut in Mount Park, where he was a keeper, and Humphries was shot while playing golf at Croydon.

CREDIT UNION

Postponed meeting of Saanich Credit Union will be held tonight at 8, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Notley, Cedar Hill Cross Road and Palo Alta Drive. A detailed account of the proposed Victoria Credit Union chapter will be dealt with.

11 Kearny Men Killed

Secretary Hull Calls Hitler International Highwayman

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Cordell Hull today characterized the torpedoing of the United States destroyer Kearny as another in a series of incidents illustrating Hitler's known and confessed effort to seize control of the seas as well as the continents.

Hitler has notified all nations to keep their ships out of an area covering a large portion of the north Atlantic on penalty of having these ships sunk, because he proposes to drive all other nations off the seas by intimidation, Hull told his press conference.

If such intimidation were successful, the Secretary continued, he supposed Hitler then would want other nations to get off the earth.

The Secretary of State's outspoken denunciation of the attack on the Kearny followed a navy announcement that 10 of the destroyer's crew had been injured and that 11 were missing and the direct charge that the attack was by "a submarine, undoubtedly German." The torpedoing represented the first personnel losses suffered by the U.S. Atlantic fleet.

Asked whether the United States had made or was contemplating a diplomatic protest to Germany, Hull replied with asperity that one does not often send diplomatic notes to international highwaymen.

When the torpedoing of the new 1,630-ton destroyer was first made known Friday, the navy's communique said "no casualties were indicated" and relief tempered the capital's reaction to the incident. Sunday night, however, the navy received further information—the wounded Kearny had made her way to an undisclosed port and reported her 21 casualties.

Of the 10 injured one man was stated in a critical condition, one was seriously injured and eight had minor injuries.

The character of the encounter between the Kearny and the submarine led informed quarters here to write off the 11 missing as dead.

Vatican to Buy Supplies in Portugal

VATICAN CITY (AP)—A Vatican news service said today three officials of the papal court had gone to Portugal to buy clothing and, possibly, food supplies for Vatican City's 700 inhabitants as a result of rationing in Italy.

They were expected to buy chiefly cloth for clothing and leather for shoes, with the possibility the Vatican may establish its own tailoring and shoe-making shops.

A Vatican source previously had reported the papal state was laying up supplies because of rationing regulations in Italy and had large food supplies already stored in its cellars.

Nazis in Norway Seize Tents, Knapsacks

OSLO, German-occupied Norway (AP)—German military authorities today ordered all private citizens except those in three northern administrative districts to deliver up all tents, tenting material and knapsacks.

The Germans also established a control for the distribution of men's warm trousers still in the possession of wholesalers and manufacturers.

A new police order requires Free Masons to surrender to authorities their Masonic rings, which are mostly of gold. It is estimated there are 2,200 such rings in Norway.

Armenians to Fight

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)—The Armenian community informed the government of Syria today it had organized a league to fight against Germany on the side of Russia and her allies. The community is composed of 150,000 persons in Syria and Lebanon.

By PETE SALLAWAY

SUDDEN DEATH game for the Canadian box lacrosse championship. That's the situation facing British Columbia's Richmond Farmers and Ontario's St. Catharines Athletics tonight at Vancouver. The clubs have played four games in the current Mann Cup series and are still even. Except for the nice fat kitty, the boys might just as well have played one game to determine the champions. Speaking of gates, we can guarantee that old Forum will bulge at the sides tonight with the mass of howling humanity anxious to sit in on the kill. It will total 6,000-odd.

Tension tonight will be terrific. The teams will be strained to the limit and a blowoff is possible any time. Actions of the St. Kitts in the four games to date stamp them as mighty poor losers. In the two games they have dropped to Richmond, one of the determining factors has been penalties. The minute the easterners start to slip behind, they attempt the rough tactics, and, naturally, go off the floor. That is easy to understand. The St. Kitts are composed of veterans in a lacrosse sense and they naturally hate to take a back seat to a bunch of youngsters like Richmond. It just goes against the grain. The same holds true in all sports. The lads who have the advantage of experience figure they should be able to combat youth and speed. Often it falls to work out that way.

To whip St. Catharines tonight Richmond will have to keep to their running attack. If the Farmers ever allow St. Catharines to slow the pace down and force them to play their style, they are going to wind up on the short end. Richmond has the edge in speed and youth and they must take full advantage of it, keeping St. Catharines under pressure. Those eastern veterans don't like to be kept hustling all the time and blow up when the going starts to get tough.

But just let St. Catharines adopt a slow-breaking style and their stars like Fitzgerald, Cheevers, Wilson and McMahon will fire goals like punching holes through a hunk of cheese. And, as far as Fitzgerald is concerned, it seems as if the only way Richmond can stop him is to drop him with a rugged body check or the wood side of a stick.

It has been brought to our notice by an article in the West Coast Advocate that island sportsmen are wantonly killing off deer. At a meeting of the Alberni Fish and Game Association several members reported having seen dead deer in considerable numbers. One said he had counted 10 in one area.

It was stressed that killing one deer results in 10 deer less three years from now, as often each doe will bear two fawns, add these in turn will bear at the end of a three-year period. The numbers reported slain and left to rot were so great that the consequent depletion might make hunting very scarce in the district, and some members thought it might be a good idea to close the district completely for a year, to provide an object lesson to those who have no sense of fair play. But others considered that the sportsmen in the woods would be penalized along with the other kind of hunter by such a course, and it was decided to give as wide publicity as possible to the condition and see what public opinion would do.

If such conditions are true, something should certainly be done, and done fast. All areas on the island have game associations and these groups, with the co-operation of the Game Department, might make a determined effort to catch a hunter in the act of shooting a doe and make an example of him. A stiff penalty would soon discourage others of his kind.

Pedens Ride Third

Cyr-Debacco Victors

MONTREAL (CP)—Rene Cyr of Montreal and Angello Debacco of Newark, N.J., pedaled to victory here Saturday night as they outdistanced their competitors by one lap to win Montreal's 18th international six-day bike race. Cyr and Debacco held the lead in the grind from the start, except for one hour. Doug and Torchy Peden, the husky brother team from Victoria, B.C., took third place in the whirl on a point basis, one lap behind the winners, and tied in laps with Audy and Yates.

During the final hour of sprinting the team of Gerard Debaets of Patterson, N.J., and Albert Schelstraete of Delhi, Ont., dropped out.

Alumni Score Grid Victory

V.H.S. Alumni moved into the win column in the Canadian Football League Saturday, smashing through George Deacon's Saanich club 18 to 6. It marked the second start for Jimmy Smith's boys and the result placed them in a first-place tie with the Oak Bay Blue Devils, although the latter have played one less game.

Alumni won the game on the strength of an 18-point scoring spurge in the second quarter. During the other three periods the Saanich gridders were able to hold their line safe. In the last quarter Saanich put on an offensive of their own to go over for a major score and prevent a shutout.

After threatening majority of the first quarter, Alumni crashed through to open the scoring early in the second period, Alf Humphries carrying the ball over on an end run. Fred Ranson kicked the extra point to give his club a 6 to 0 lead. Still on the attack, the Alumni rouged one of the Saanich lads for another point.

Taking the ball through the centre of the line, "Duffer" McCaghey added another touchdown for the V.H.S. squad and once again Ranson was true with his boot to make the score 13 to 0. Minutes before half time, Ranson got himself a touchdown, intercepting a forward pass and running 30 yards to plant the ball over the line. The kick for the extra point was blocked.

With the opening of the second half, the Saanich team settled down and the nervousness that had marked their first-half play appeared gone. Several times in the third period Saanich looked as if they might score after some smart forward passing, but Alumni held safe. Touchdown for Saanich in the last quarter was scored by "Toad" Garnet on a buck through the centre of the line. Bob Amos kicked the added point to make it 18 to 6 for the Alumni.

Vote Anscomb Tuesday, rain or shine.

Champion of Canada

WINNIPEG (CP)—A blond 17-year-old chess wizard, Abe Yanofsky of Winnipeg, Sunday won the senior chess championship of Canada as he finished the 10th round of the 11-round tournament here two and a half points ahead of his nearest rival.

The dethroned champion, M. Fox of Montreal, a private in the Canadian (active) army, H. Opsahl of Temiskaming, Que., were Yanofsky's nearest opponents in the standings. It was Fox who held Abe to his only draw of the tournament in the first round.

Extravagant mismanagement eliminated when you vote Anscomb.

Bear Blitzkrieg

Bears that have been raiding construction and lumber camp mess shacks in Ontario are paying the hunter. Art Widnall waits for guide to help lug in his first of the season, 378 and 439-pounders, killed less than 30 miles from his home town, Fort William.

Colorful Hockey Rookie

Canadiens Like Fraser

MONTREAL (CP)—Bill (Legs) Fraser, tall goaltender who is among the rookie crop seeking a berth with the Canadian Hockey Club, is being mooted by hockey men in the know as the new color guy of the National Hockey League—if he catches a spot in the big time.

The proviso is there because Canadian club officials have been somewhat reserved in making an outright decision as to where Fraser will play his hockey this season, despite outward bursts of enthusiasm over their new prospect.

At the Habitants' training camp at St. Hyacinthe, Que., 40 miles south of Montreal, Legs has been wowing the railbirds with his antics. This angular Winnipeg huck's style is something new to hockey followers of this small French town.

HAS CONFIDENCE

When in the nets Bill has a pair of hands like a baseball shortstop and chatters like one. Continually he is yelling to players to test their prowess against him, and it's this tone of cockiness that's got everybody liking Legs.

It's easy to understand why he is called Legs, because his pinnions measure an awful lot of his 6-foot 3-inch frame.

To Bill, this pro stuff doesn't look any tougher, than when he played in the amateur ranks. Last year Legs nearly caused a one-man catastrophe in Cape Breton, when he turned out with Glace Bay Miners in the league playoffs after he had played throughout the regular schedule with North Sydney Victorias.

The man Legs is vying with for the goaling position is Bert Gardiner, who held the first-string job last year.

Mark your ballot Anscomb and pick a winner.

Soccer Development

Troops Display Form

SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND (CP)—A Canadian Army soccer team probably will play in the inter-Allied Cup playdowns sponsored by the Football Association.

The Canadians find they cannot enter the regular league which includes teams from the British Army and other Allied forces in the United Kingdom, but it is likely they will have a crack team ready for the playdowns in February.

Interest in soccer has grown in the Canadian camps in the past year and the Canadians' game has improved considerably. This development was encouraged by the soccer school run by the 1st Canadian Division at a special camp where weapon training was combined with athletic instruction.

Major Percy Kalehn of Saskatoon, head of the camp, advanced the idea that a Canadian soccer team should enter the Inter-Allied Cup playdowns, and he feels the Canadians could give a good account of themselves.

The division went in for soccer training in a big way and obtained two Charlton internationals—Don Welsh and George Green, to coach the men at the camp. They are both company sergeant-major instructors in the British Army, and were attached to the division for several weeks.

For reliability and sane thinking vote Anscomb.

Bunny Dame, the Trail, B.C., amateur, has been signed by Canadians. But the name affixed to the contract was Aurel Napoleon Dame, which fact alone should make the flashy newcomer a prime favorite with the Habitants' supporters—particularly those rabid habitués of the "millionaires' row" at the Forum.

The British Columbia-owned canine won the honors from a field that included entries from Washington, Oregon and California.

In addition to the best-in-show award, Capilano Girl took the Hon. E. W. Hamber Challenge Cup for the best sporting dog in show and also the trophy for the best Canadian-bred.

Victorians fared well in the special awards with three major honors. Kootenay Daybreak, cocker spaniel owned by Mrs. Arthur Latham, was judged the best novice; Robert A. Cross took the best-trotter prize with his wirehair, Miss Spitfire Highpoint, and Mrs. L. M. Woods the best puppy honors with her Cairn, Machouchia of Melita.

Sophie of Balmain, smooth dachshund owned by L. F. and Mrs. Cameron, Whonock, B.C., was best sporting hound.

The remainder of the best-in-show honors went to American entries. American champion Carol Von Weiss, doberman pinscher owned by Roy H. Hatfield, Portland, Ore., was judged best working dog, and Canadian and American champion Long's Brat, owned by Mrs. W. D. Long of Olympia, Wash., was best champion. Two Seattle dogs also won trophies. Zara Smith's Peekingess, Cha-Ming Jing She, was best toy, and Louella G. and G. A. W. Nelson's English bulldog, Gatewood Paymaster Pete, was judged best nonsporting dog in the show.

Win Hockey Game

ST. HYACINTHE, Que. (CP)—Paced by the forward line, of Bobby Walton, Glenn Harmon and Herman Gruhn, Canadiens' rookies trounced Montreal Royals of the Quebec Senior Hockey League 10 to 6 in an exhibition game here Sunday.

The Walton-Harmon-Gruhn line accounted for seven of the goals for the rookies, many of whom are expected to be wearing amateur Canadiens uniforms in the Q.S.H.L. after the professional team breaks training camp.

Teams Take Ninth Straight Win for Alsab

VANCOUVER (CP)—Look over the record and then make your choice—St. Catharines Athletics or Richmond Farmers to win the Canadian lacrosse championship in the final game of the Mann Cup series here tonight.

Each team has won two games, St. Kitts taking the first 10 to 9 and the third 17 to 9, while Richmond won the second and fourth 21 to 10 and 14 to 11. Maybe it was a coincidence, but the easterners won both their games in the Vancouver Forum where tonight's encounter is being staged, and the Farmers triumphed twice at New Westminster.

Whatever the outcome, the fans look for a nip-and-tuck battle tonight and at least 6,000 spectators are likely to turn out. Coach Ed Gilmore is making two changes in the Richmond line-up, Bill Ross and Ian Lorimer filling in for Doug Wallace and Reg Phillips.

On the basis of past performance it would seem the Farmers had a speedier style than the easterners, but the latter are masters of strategy and have a scintillating passing set-up. Some experts reckon the team with the best defence will walk off with the cup.

Both teams appear confident of capturing the championship, but St. Catharines claim to be playing under an annoying handicap, meaning the western referee's interpretation of playing rules, which undoubtedly is different than in eastern sections of the Dominion.

CRAIG WOODS WINS

WICHITA, Kas. (AP)—Craig Wood, United States open champion of Mamaroneck, N.Y., won the Wichita open golf tournament and $750 with a 72-hole 284, four under par for the Westlink Club's long rolling course.

One stroke behind in a tie were Edmund Wysowski, young Kewanee, Ill., pro; Johnny Revolta, Evanston, Ill., and Henry Picard of Oklahoma City.

V.M.D. Soccer Winners

Penalty Decides Game

A penalty goal scored 20 minutes before the closing whistle was the margin that separated the V.M.D. and Victoria West soccer teams in their league match played Sunday before several hundred spectators at Bullen Park. The machinery depot squad won 2 to 1.

The match, eagerly anticipated by the soccer followers, was no disappointment with the clubs engaging in a bitter struggle for the 90 minutes. V.M.D. played a little more constructive football, but were fortunate to win, as during the last 15 minutes the Wests hemmed them in their half. The Wests, with a younger lighter club were handicapped by the shortness of the playing pitch.

Wests moved into the lead in the first half when Raeside headed the ball into the net following a free kick by Jack Okell. Early in the second half V.M.D. tied the score on a goal by George Tantrum on a pass from Slogar.

Just past the halfway mark of the half, the V.M.D. took the lead when a penalty was blown against the Wests for pushing. George Kulai scored from the spot.

LAUREL, Md. (AP)—Alsab, the bargain basement colt that experienced horsemen call the best two-year-old to come down the pike in years, won his ninth straight race Saturday and became the 13th juvenile in United States racing history to earn more than $100,000.

Outclassing his three opponents, the son of Good Goods and Winds Chant romped home to a smashing four-length victory without a lash from jockey Bobby Vedder.

The colt that Mrs. Albert Sabath of Chicago purchased for $700 added $5,325 to his earnings by his triumph in the mile and one-sixteenth Spalding Lowe Jenkins and boosted his total to $102,880.

Alsab paid $2.20 for $2. Second was R. Sterling Clark's Colchis. T. D. Buhl's Sweep Swinger was third.

Alsab's time of one minute, 45 and 4/5 seconds was slow but the two-year-old champion didn't have to run any faster.

Winnipeg Bombers Turn Back Regina

REGINA (CP)—Pouncing on the breaks of the game, a cool, deadly Winnipeg Blue Bomber football team tacked a 15 to 1 trouncing on Regina Roughriders here Saturday to clinch top place in the Western Interprovincial Union. Riders are four points behind with the schedule's final game billed for Winnipeg Saturday.

There is a possibility Saturday's game may be thrown out as Roughriders played it under protest when Bombers used Backfielder Ken Preston, a player the Regins claim is ineligible.

Scheduled practice of the James Bay box lacrosse team tonight at the Willows Sports Centre has been canceled, manager Ted Menzies announced today.

Sun Life Head Here

Finds Sentiment Changing in U.S.

"Our business has progressed substantially over last year, which is a reflection of improved conditions throughout the country due to war activities," said Arthur S. Wood, president of the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada, who is in the city today from Montreal.

"Incidentally," he added, "the business we are handling in British Columbia is particularly good."

Total insurance on the Sun Life books represents $3,000,000,000, and the company's assets are $984,000,000, which places it as one of the biggest financial institutions in the country.

The Sun Life president, who has been attending agency conferences in all parts of the United States, is staying at the Empress Hotel with Mrs. Wood. He will leave Tuesday for eastern Canada after conferring with Andy L. Wright, manager for British Columbia, Vancouver, and Henry B. Howard, Victoria manager.

The Sun Life has agencies in 40 states of the American union and while he was across the border Mr. Wood attended conferences at Colorado Springs, western region; Nashville, N.C., central and southern region, and at Swamscott, Mass., eastern area.

Sentiment in the United States is gradually but steadily crystallizing to the point of extending all-out aid to Great Britain and her allies in fighting for survival of the democracies. "I saw evidence on every side of the tremendous defence effort that is being put forth in the United States," said Mr. Wood.

"I found, however, that false impressions exist in the United States regarding the extent to which Canada is participating in the war effort," said the insurance executive.

"They have had an erroneous idea over there that Canada is not doing everything possible in the prosecution of the war and another false impression is that the Canadian government is requiring Great Britain to pay cash on the nail for the materials being supplied by this country."

"We, on this side, know that Canada is straining to the limit to render all-out aid to the Mother Country and that it is unfortunate that such a false impression exists across the border." The isolationist groups, he said, were helping to spread the rumors.

"I went out of my way to do all I could to correct these wrong impressions and I think it is desirable that anyone visiting the United States from this country should help to dispel such false rumors and they can do so in many ways."

Suspect Youths

Believed to be the work of five young boys, the Blue Ribbon Ltd. warehouse, 1119 Wharf Street, was broken into Sunday and $35 worth of chocolates, chocolate bars and tea were stolen and considerable damage done to other stock.

Police were called to the warehouse at 6:10 Sunday evening by an employee of Heaney's Cartage and Storage Ltd., 521 Bastion Street, who said a number of boys were in an alley at the back of the Blue Ribbon warehouse acting suspiciously and that they had run when approached.

In the alley police found cartons of chocolates, bars and half-pound packages of tea. The warehouse had been entered by breaking a small window at the rear and inside crates of stock had been broken and damaged.

Detective W. H. Richards made further investigations and later in the evening picked up a 13-year-old boy for questioning.

Police also believed the breaking and entering of Moore-Whittington Lumber Co. Ltd., premises at 2614 Bridge Street during the week-end was the work of juveniles.

The premises were found to have been broken into at 7:30 this morning and a number of the workmen's tool boxes had been broken open. Constables C. Webb and A. Briggs of the city police investigated but nothing was reported missing.

HOW TO RELIEVE PILE TORTURE QUICKLY AND EASILY

If you are troubled with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not delay treatment and run the risk of letting this condition become chronic. Any itching or soreness or painful passage of stool is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once.
For this purpose get a package of Hem-Roid from Modern Pharmacy and Cunningham Drug Stores or any drugist and use as directed. This formula, which is used internally, is a small, easy to take tablet, will quickly relieve the itching and soreness and aid in healing the sore tender spots. Hem-Roid is pleasant to use, is highly recommended and it seems the height of folly for anyone to risk a painful and chronic pile condition when such a fine remedy may be had at such a small cost.
If you try Hem-Roid and are not entirely pleased with the results, your drugist will gladly return your money.

CURRENTLY SHOWING at the York Theatre is "All This and Heaven Too," featuring Bette Davis and Jeffrey Lynn.

Northwestern's Defeat Surprise

NEW YORK (AP)—Michigan's Wolverines pushed Northwestern out of the undefeated list Saturday, presented a new and somewhat unexpected Big Ten challenge to Minnesota and gained complete, if somewhat belated, recognition as one of the top-ranking squads in United States college football.

By all odds, the Wolverines' feat in halting powerful Northwestern, 14 to 7, in a spectacular battle at Evanston, was the outstanding performance of a comparatively calm football Saturday, marked, otherwise by the initial defeats suffered by Columbia, Cornell and Dartmouth in the east, Nebraska, Big Six champion, and Texas Christian and Rice in the south.

Michigan meets Minnesota at Ann Arbor Saturday. Minnesota rolled over Pitt's Panthers, 39 to 0, but suffered a heavy blow when halfback Bruce Smith was injured early in the game.
Sailing along the unbeaten trail with Michigan and Minnesota were Texas Longhorns, Texas A. and M., and Duke, Vanderbilt, Army, Navy, Fordham, Penn, Temple, Notre Dame, Ohio State, Detroit and Georgia, to mention a few.

Hockey Gossip

One of the greatest left-wingers in hockey, Toe Blake is being used at centre by Canadiens as an experiment. Since he was chosen on the all-star Canadian Press team three years ago, Blake has lost some of his scoring effectiveness. Coach Dick Irvin hopes the change may perhaps enable Blake to regain some of his lost form.

Bert Janke and Wally Stanowski were defence mates when playing junior hockey with St. Boniface Seals, one-time Memorial Cup champions. There is a possibility these buddies may be throwing body checks at one another this year now that Janke has been signed by Canadians.

FILM OF INTRIGUE ON PLAZA SCREEN

Breakneck adventure! Heart-warming romance! And a dynamite-laden holocaust on wheels... together they weave a thrill-filled spell of intrigue-laden drama!

It's Columbia's "Spy in the Pantry," thrill-packed tale of high adventure! The film, opening today at the Plaza Theatre, was directed by Tim Whelan, maker of "Clouds Over Europe," "Sidewalks of London," and "The Divorce of Lady X." Rex Harrison, who recently appeared in "Over the Moon," and in "Sidewalks of London," is starred as a gay adventurer who finds himself enmeshed in baffling intrigue, and lovely Karen Verne makes her screen debut in the leading female role.

'Reaching for the Sun' Coming to Dominion

Ruggedness seems to be de rigueur among Hollywood leading men these days—especially those acting in comedies.

In the comedies recently emanating from Hollywood, male stars have been called upon to do a good deal of fist fighting, all in the cause of laughs. So it would seem that aspirants for places among the leading men might do well to study boxing as well as proper enunciation.

An example of the trend toward fisticuffs is provided by Joel McCrea's starring role in "Reaching for the Sun," Paramount romantic comedy playing tomorrow at the Dominion.

ATLAS SHOWING 'OUT OF THE FOG'

Ida Lupino and John Garfield are co-starred in the thrilling Warner Bros. film, "Out of the Fog," which is currently at the Atlas Theatre.

The supporting cast includes Thomas Mitchell, Eddie Albert, George Tobias, John Qualen and Odette Myrtil. Anatole Litvak directed from the Broadway play by Irwin Shaw, adapted for the screen by Robert Rossen, Jerry Wald and Richard Macaulay.

'ONE NIGHT IN TROPICS' AT RIO

One of the most impressive line-ups of stellar comedy players in recent years cavorts in Universal's fast-moving romantic comedy, "One Night in the Tropics," now playing at the Rio Theatre.
Allan Jones, Nancy Kelly and Robert Cummings, in starring roles, all have light comedy assignments. Bud Abbott and Lou Costello, noted stage and radio comedy team, make their screen debut.

2 Republics on Island of Hispaniola

Hispaniola is the name which appears on some maps for an island in the West Indies. It is the "official" name of the island and grew out of the old Spanish name of "Espanola." A common custom has been to speak of the island as Haiti, but Haiti is a republic on the island and has a smaller area than the other republic located there.

Hispaniola contains more than 29,500 square miles. It is almost as large as Ireland, including Northern Ireland.

A Santo Domingo boy riding ox with load of tobacco leaves.

The population of Hispaniola is about 4,500,000—very nearly the same as that of Ireland.

The Dominican republic covers two-thirds of the land on the island, but has only one-third of the population. The people are mainly of Spanish, negro and Indian descent. The Spanish language is spoken almost everywhere, but in some places the traveler finds natives who can speak English.

The peso is the money standard of the Dominican republic. Its value is based on the American dollar. Dominican money is in circulation, but American dollars and cents also pass about in trade.

The soil of the republic is rich, and the rainfall is heavy. Crops grow well, and the people export sugar, tobacco, cocoa and coffee. Santo Domingo is the capital and leading city. It is the oldest city started by white men in the New World. It dates back to 1496, when it was founded by a brother of Columbus.

For a long time the body of Christopher Columbus lay buried in a cathedral of Santo Domingo. The cathedral still stands, but the remains of the great discoverer were moved to Cuba in 1796, and it is believed they were taken back to Spain in 1898.

Some dispute exists as to the present resting place of the remains of Columbus. Claims have been put forth that they still are in Havana, Cuba, but the general belief is that they actually were transferred to Seville, Spain, and are there at the present time.

We do not have much space to say much about the other republic on the island of Hispaniola. Known as Haiti, it has a population made up almost entirely of negroes and mulattoes.

For more than 200 years Haiti was under Spanish rule. Then it was taken over by France, which held it for a century. French rule was broken by a revolt, and a republic was proclaimed in 1804.

'The Squire' Passes Away

LATE HORATIO THOMAS RAVENHILL

A well-known cyclist and supporter of boys' work and social services, Horatio Thomas Ravenhill, 79, died in Royal Jubilee Hospital Saturday evening.

Born in England, third son of the late John Richard Ravenhill of Dalaford, Iwer, Buckinghamshire, Mr. Ravenhill was educated at Marlborough College and in his youth was a prominent tennis and football player. He was a member of the Marlborough Nomads Football Club.

In 1910 Mr. Ravenhill came to Vancouver Island with his only son. They settled at Shawnigan Lake, for a time farming in a small way. When war broke out the son went overseas and was killed at the Battle of Ypres in April, 1915.

His great love of boys and interest in their work, hobbies and recreation kept Mr. Ravenhill devoted to the Boy Scouts. At one time he was commissioner of Scouts for Vancouver Island and did much splendid work. He was beloved by the Scouts and affectionately came to be known to a wide circle as "the squire."

For 15 years he worked closely with the "Toc H" organization, doing much fine work. For 25 years he was interested in Victoria social services. He was an original member of the Social Service League and assisted in the formation of a council of social agencies here. He was a member of the Navy League of Canada, the Overseas League and the British Public Schools Club.

In shorts and socks and an open shirt "Squire" Ravenhill spent many happy hours on his bicycle. In 1935, despite his age, he cycled from New Brunswick to Vancouver, spending three months on the road.

Mr. Ravenhill leaves two sisters, Misses Alice and Edith Ravenhill at the Windermere Hotel. Private funeral service will be held at Hayward's, followed by cremation at Royal Oak.

Victorians Gain Lieutenant Ranks

Five Victorians with the Canadian Army overseas received lieutenant certificates at the largest officer cadets' training unit graduation exercises towards the end of September.

According to the report from England the five are: C. F. Lawrence, R. Carey, D. I. Hatch, G. M. Cuthbertson and J. H. Kelly.

The Victoria Kiwanis Club hope to dispose of a carload of apples during the drive and tag day. The proceeds of the sale go to the Lord Mayor's Fund.

Prof. Farr Learns Some 'Double Talk'

Liberal candidates of Victoria City, Saanich and Oak Bay occupied the same platform Saturday night before an Oak Bay audience at St. Mary's Hall. The visiting candidates joined in an appeal to the voters to elect Prof. E. S. Farr as the first member for the new Oak Bay riding.

In one sense the meeting was an anti-climax for Prof. Farr who had just come from his much-publicized radio debate with Herbert Anscomb, Conservative. Most of the crowd stayed at home to listen to their radio argument and turned up late for the meeting.

Prof. Farr admitted he was dissatisfied with the joint debate, which consisted of Mr. Anscomb following him in a speech, but he conceded that as a newcomer to the public rostrum he had really learned something from Mr. Anscomb about "double talk" in politics.

"He almost had me dizzy the way he side-stepped and evaded and tried to make out my questions were inconsequential," Prof. Farr smiled. "Yes, I got a good lesson in double talk."

DISPARITY

Prof. Farr said Mr. Anscomb had conceded that he would not surrender income tax rights to the Dominion in perpetuity, the main point in the Sirois report. Conservative leader R. L. Maitland, on the other hand, wants to reopen the Sirois scheme and, presumably, hand over the income tax.

"There's a disparity there between these two leading Conservatives which needs some tall explaining," he said.

Prof. Farr's chief point about the Sirois report was that it was not a wartime document. It was based on peacetime requirements. At the outset Plan One would have slowed the war effort because it would have cost the Dominion $400,000,000 a year. The question of war aid by the province involved factors on so many fronts that the Sirois plan faded into insignificance in the main picture.

GREATEST ACHIEVEMENT

"When a dispassionate historian sets out to write the story of Premier Pattullo's part in British Columbia's development, among the highest achievements he will record will be the Premier's stand at Ottawa on the Sirois report," he said.

"And when Mr. Anscomb now says he wouldn't surrender income tax rights in perpetuity he takes the whole sting out of his criticism of the Premier."

He said Mr. Anscomb had to talk in hyperbole and superlatives which led him into irresponsible and unreliable statements that one could hardly credit to a man who aspired to be the finance minister.

LOT OF TREES

An illustration, he said, was Mr. Anscomb's claim that reforestation should have reached the point where 10,000,000,000 trees a year were being planted. The cost of doing this would be greater than the entire provincial budget which the Conservative candidate already claimed was extravagant.

Finance Minister John Hart, who was the main guest speaker, also tackled Mr. Anscomb for false statements on the finances. "I never knew a chartered accountant who could get so far from the facts," he said. "I think he really knows better. If that is so the only conclusion is he is deliberately fooling the public."

"In the 1937 election Mr. Anscomb was $30,000,000 out in the debt figures he used. In this campaign he's using figures that are a year old. He disregards the fact that we have paid off $29,000,000 of debt in the last year and have reduced the net debt $5,500,000 in that period."

PAID DEBT INSTEAD OF SPENDING

Mr. Hart said the charge of extravagance against his administration was flatly refuted by the fact that $18,500,000 of the revenue surpluses in the last eight years had been used for paying off debt, instead of for wild spending.

It was quite true the net debt had gone up $8,942,000. But this was a small increase when it was considered that during the period the government had to borrow $25,000,000 for unemployment relief, $7,000,000 for roads and $4,000,000 for the Pattullo Bridge.

"When Mr. Anscomb says we are spending between $35,000,000 and $36,000,000 a year for government, he's absolutely false," Mr. Hart said.

"The audited figures for fiscal 1940-41 show a revenue of $36,526,000. Our ordinary expenditures were $28,876,000, leaving a revenue surplus of $7,730,000. Out of this $700,000 went to pay some fixed maturities and $2,500,000 for relief. This left us a clear overall surplus of $4,500,000. What a lovely chance to go on a spending spree in an election year, $4,500,000 in cold hard cash. But did we do that? No. We used the money to pay off more of our debts."

SAVING TO TAXPAYERS

Mr. Hart said the taxpayers would know the result of his carefully piloted debt policies in the next budget which would require $1,225,000 less for interest on the public debt, and $400,000 less for sinking funds.

"When we took office in 1933 the Conservatives had pared provincial services to almost nothing. We had to restore them. Now they call this restoration extravagance. If you go back to 1930 you'll find the Conservatives were spending $30 per capita on government. We are spending $25. Is that extravagance?"

BONUS QUESTION

Mr. Hart concluded with a reference to the 10 per cent cost of living bonuses for old age and other pensioners and employees, and a review of the government's assistance to Ottawa in war policies.

The other speakers warmly wished Prof. Farr good luck on election day.

Norman W. Whittaker, K.C., Saanich, said Prof. Farr was the type of man who would put human rights and values first, and not, like Mr. Anscomb, try to run government like a department store.

MUGWUMPS

Mrs. Nancy Hodges, Victoria, said there were too many mugwumps running in the opposition with no ideas where they stood and only able to criticize.

W. T. Straith, K.C., Victoria, said Conservative leader Maitland was obviously frightened of the election result because while he had challenged the government last session to go to the country, he now tried to say there was no need for an election.

Col. W. H. Winsby was chairman.

"We can no more negotiate a peace with the war lords of Tokyo than with the conquering dictator of Berlin," said Willkie.

"On any continent, in every ocean, we can only stop these partners in piracy."

Await the Verdict

The main part of the campaign is over today. In Victoria city the major parties had finished, and except for some meetings in the outlying areas the politicians were resting to await the judgment of the electors tomorrow.

Premier Pattullo closed his campaign with a speech Saturday night in which he asserted only the Liberals could offer British Columbia a government of long experience.

Old Parties Failed

At Ladysmith Sam Guthrie said the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation exists "for the same reason the Labor party exists in Britain—the old parties have failed us."

Mr. Guthrie declared Premier Pattullo had misrepresented the C.C.F.'s stand regarding the war, and asserted "We hate Hitler and all he stands for... we urged that supplies be sent to Britain without profit and that war industries be nationalized."

He charged Mr. Pattullo with "dishonest argument" in refusing to establish a highway commission. The Premier, he said, had refused to turn millions over to such a commission and had claimed it would be undemocratic to delegate members' powers to a commission but "what about the utilities commission, compensation board and similar bodies?"

"We need a change from make-believe to a party that will emulate the splendid example of labor in New Zealand and elsewhere," Mr. Guthrie continued, after criticizing various phases of the Liberal government's policy. "Why shouldn't the advances of science mean something to you and me? Yet under capitalism unemployment must return and grow. We must plan the distribution of the abundance available."
